LAST-MINUTE MOVE MADE FOR HAUPTMANN

Wife Swears Out Complaint Charging P. H. Wendel With Kidnapping Lindbergh Baby; If No Court Order Made Hauptmann's Death Sentence Will Be Carried Out This Evening

Associated Press
Flemington, N.J., April 3.—Mrs. Anna Hauptmann today swore to a complaint before a justice of the peace charging Paul H. Wendel with kidnapping Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.
Her husband was scheduled to die for the crime at 8 o'clock this evening.

Trenton, N.J., April 3.—Attorney-General David T. Wilentz ruled today that if Governor Harold G. Hoffman should issue a reprieve for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, sentenced to die at 8 o'clock this evening for the Lindbergh baby murder, the prison warden would be bound to obey it.

A short time earlier the warden had said that as far as he knew the time still was set at 8 p.m.
Addressing Col. Mark O. Kimberling, prison warden, the Attorney-General said:

"If a reprieve by Governor Hoffman is served on you, it is not your duty to question its validity, but to obey it."

This meant that if the Governor, who has said he would "gladly" reprieve Hauptmann a second time if he were shown he had the authority, should decide to issue a reprieve, the warden would be obliged, under the Wilentz interpretation of the law, to postpone the execution as directed.

ONLY POSSIBLE STEPS
The Attorney-General said the only means by which Hauptmann—whose sentence was ordered to be carried out at 8 this evening—could be saved were:

1. A reprieve.
2. Commutation of sentence by the Court of Pardons.
3. A stay of execution by the court.

GOVERNOR PAID FINE FOR FORGER

Associated Press
Chicago, April 3.—Associates of Bernard Finnigan, Attorney for Stephen Spitz, convicted forger who claimed to know the whereabouts of $5,000 of the Lindbergh ransom money, said today they had received no word as to the whereabouts of the lawyer and his client.
Spitz was released from the Bridewell Prison Wednesday after Finnigan had paid $892 on his fine. The money, the lawyer's wife later said, came from Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey.

Governor Talks With Attorney-General

Trenton, N.J., April 3.—Attorney-General David T. Wilentz was called suddenly into conference with Governor Harold G. Hoffman late today while Mrs. Bruno Richard Hauptmann was swearing out a complaint at Flemington charging another man with the Lindbergh kidnapping, for which her husband was under sentence to die tonight.

Herbert C. Botten Wins Senior String Honors At Festival

Instrumental and Vocal Classes Are Judged During Morning; Singing of Ursula Aldous Wins High Praise; Choice of Pieces Again Criticized
Herbert C. Botten, cellist, was this morning awarded the senior string championship of the Victoria Musical Festival, at the conclusion of the instrumental contests in the Metropolitan Institute.
There were two other competitors for the championship: Julia Kent-Jones, eleven-year-old girl who carried off the honors in the intermediate violin classes, and D'Albert LeMarquand, who won the senior violin contest. Each competitor played the piece allotted to the respective classes.
Herbert Samuel, the adjudicator, announced Mr. Botten's victory without awarding any marks or making any comment on the playing.

INTEREST IN MUSIC WANES

Harold Samuel, Adjudicator at Musical Festival, Says Radio Bedlam of Noise
"One of the things that has struck me so much is the extraordinary falling off of interest in music in Victoria," said Harold Samuel, after finishing his adjudication on the last instrumental classes in the Victoria Musical Festival at the Metropolitan Institute this morning.
The small number of entries in some classes was an illustration of this, he said.
"We are rapidly approaching the age when we don't want to do anything ourselves, but see someone else do it."

"We want to sit by the radio at home and do something else that takes all our attention while the music goes on making a bedlam of noise as a background," he said, "as a musician, deplores this terribly."
"Music is something much more than an art to be left to specialized people, to provide."
MUSIC TAKES TROUBLE
"Music will go, unless everyone, or a majority of people, will take the trouble to take part in it, and do it themselves, not sit around and criticize."
"You will not take the trouble," he begged people to try, even if they knew they were not good.
"If you all, you fall, but at any rate you can say you tried," Mr. Samuel said.

REINDEER SLAIN BY WOLF PACKS

Nome, Alaska, April 3.—Wolf packs ranging the Tundra of the Selawik Valley in northwestern Alaska were blamed today for the slaughter of hundreds of reindeer and the scattering of large herds.
Pilot Maurice King, who flew over the Selawik to locate 12,000 reindeer which were marked last fall, said he had found only 3,200, but counted hundreds of dead on the snow.

TOWNSEND CLUBS SHAKEN BY INQUIRY

J. S. McGroarty, California Congressman Who Fathered Bill, Says Political Force of Pension Movement in United States Dissipated
Associated Press
Washington, April 3.—An assertion that the political force of the Townsend old-age pension plan appears to be dissipated was made today by Representative J. S. McGroarty, California democrat, of proposed legislation to put the programme into effect.

The Californian, who broke with Dr. F. E. Townsend in the midst of the present House investigation of the pension movement, added the inquiry may "shatter the idol that has been the good Dr. Townsend."
"If the investigation continues as disastrously as it has begun," he told newsmen, "it goes without saying the confidence of Townsend Club members in their leadership will be shaken."
He said disclosures of the investigating committee came "when we were all set to elect at least 200 Congressmen pledged to the Townsend Plan."
"With that many members in the House we could force passage of legislation in knots and force passage of legislation (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Eden Tells Commons in London Limits Set For British Officers in Talks With French and Belgians
By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, April 3.—The governments of Great Britain, France and Belgium are agreed—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today—that general staff conversations cannot give rise to any political undertaking or to any obligation regarding the organization of national defence.

Mr. Eden related to the House the latest chapter in the international drama, how Joachim von Ribbentrop, German special ambassador, had submitted Chancellor Hitler's latest proposals, how he (Eden) had handed to the representatives of France and Belgium a copy of the famous letter guaranteeing assistance in the event of unprovoked aggression.

WORKS VOTE MAY BE $40,000,000

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 3.—The works programme to relieve unemployment which will be brought before Parliament in supplementary estimates, perhaps before the Easter recess, may reach $40,000,000, it was stated in government circles today. At the time the main estimates were submitted Finance Minister Dunning explained the public works to aid employment, would be brought down to the House later in the session.

Called to Paris To Give Advice

Will the Foreign Secretary assure the House and country, Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, wartime Prime Minister, questioned, "that it is not contemplated to put any of these military" into operation in the urgent case of failure of negotiations unless there is unprovoked aggression by the German forces on Belgium or French soil, that is, an act of invasion either on France or Belgium?"
"Yes, sir," said Mr. Eden.
Mr. Eden said he had told Von Ribbentrop he considered Hitler's proposals most important and deserving of careful study, "which we now intend to give them."

MYSTERIOUS PLANE NOT IDENTIFIED

London, Ont., April 3.—Airport officials here were unable today to identify an airplane which circled over London yesterday evening, flying low. The plane, believed to have been off its course and possibly lost, did not land here. Residents who heard the drone of its motors could not say in what direction it left.

NO CHANGE IN RELIEF GRANT

Cities Still to Get 80 Per Cent, Despite Federal Reduction
The province will continue to advance 80 per cent of municipal relief costs, this arrangement being unchanged by the 15 per cent reduction in the federal grant to British Columbia.

Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, explained this morning that a seasonal drop in the amount of relief given in the municipalities is expected. This will naturally mean a reduction in the total amount the province contributes, although the percentage remains the same.

The 15 per cent cut in the federal grant reduces it from $262,500 to $223,125 per month, down $39,375.

According to the understanding here this applies only for the month of April. A further cut may be made for next month if the decline in relief rolls warrants it.

Relief authorities are not expecting anything like a 15 per cent drop in relief rolls as between March and April. March is usually the peak month of the year. Last year the reduction from March to April was just 3 per cent.

Since the province is not passing any of the reduction along to the municipalities, this means the provincial treasury will suffer from the cut to some extent, but this may be evened up over a period of months.

Debate on the treaty ended yesterday evening when the Senate gave the pact third reading without division. Earlier in the session the treaty had passed through all stages of the House of Commons.

Wife Murder Charge Dismissed in California After Three Trials

San Jose, Calif., April 3.—The wife murder charge against David A. Lamson was dismissed today and he was ordered liberated immediately.

District Attorney Fred Moore personally asked Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco to dismiss the charge against Lamson, who had faced three trials.

Moore said it was impossible to obtain a jury to convict the defendant, Lamson, former Stanford University Press executive, was convicted at his first trial of slaying his young wife, Allene Thorpe Lamson, and sentenced to be hanged.

The state supreme court granted him a new trial and two other juries disagreed.

FACTORY ACT IS TIGHTENED

Ontario Legislature Told By Minister Home Sweatshops Must End

Canadian Press
Toronto, April 3.—Welfare Minister Croil, in moving second reading of an amendment to the Factory Act to regulate wages and conditions in home workshops, told the members of the Ontario Legislature yesterday evening that "home sweatshop exploitation has been going on in Toronto and the government propose to stop it."

Mr. Croil added he had on record "numerous cases of exploitation far worse than that to which the cotton pickers of Georgia were subjected."

"When the NRA did away with Georgia child labor, they moved up to this country," he said. "We find here conditions that are tantamount to slavery. Here is a case of two women who worked for five cents an hour making bedspreads. The spreads cost $1.33 and are sold for $2.98 and $3.85. Another firm paid forty-five cents for twelve pairs of babies' booties. A woman on Jones Avenue was crocheting baby jackets at $1.65 a dozen. The jackets are finished in about ten and a half hours each.

"This is the kind of thing that is going on in Toronto and other parts of the province," continued Mr. Croil. The House gave the bill speedy second reading.

RELIEF CUT IS OPPOSED

Ontario Asks Ottawa Government to Reconsider Decision

Canadian Press
Toronto, April 3.—Declaring he was "terribly disappointed at this unexpected announcement coming from the federal government," Premier Hepburn yesterday promised the Ontario Legislature strong representations would be made by his government to the Ottawa administration to reconsider the decision to effect a 15 per cent reduction in its relief contribution to the provinces.

The Premier's announcement came at the end of what virtually amounted to a full-scale debate on the Ottawa relief announcement, made by Labor Minister Rogers, and followed a lengthy outline of relief policy by Welfare Minister Croil.

The government will not decrease its relief grant to municipalities "by one single solitary penny," Mr. Croil declared, but it will pass on to them the federal reduction. Since the federal and provincial governments contributed dollar-for-dollar, this means municipalities will suffer a 7 1/2 per cent cut because the Ontario Government is absorbing its half of the 15 per cent federal reduction.

Time Extension For Settlers' Payments

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 3.—With an amendment curtailing the provisions, the bill for extension of time for payments of arrears or instalments subject to bonus privileges under the Soldier Settlement Act was approved yesterday by the Senate banking and commerce committee.

The measure as passed by the Commons would extend the additional credit on payments made in the fall of 1936 and 1937 and would also bonus privileges credit on payments due in the fall of 1938 if paid before March 31, 1938. Yesterday's amendments limit the additional credit on payments to 1936 and 1937 only.

CORONATION IN MAY NEXT YEAR

That Month Chosen For King Edward VIII Ceremonies, Premier Baldwin Tells British Commons

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, April 3.—King Edward VIII will be crowned in May next year—probably on Thursday, May 27, Prime Minister Baldwin announced in the House of Commons yesterday that His Majesty had approved of arrangements for the coronation ceremony to take place in that month. The actual date, he added, would be announced as soon as possible.

Court circles singled out Thursday, May 27, as the most probable date. It was recalled the coronations of Queen Victoria and King George V took place on Thursdays, June 28, 1838, and June 22, 1911, respectively. Edward VIII's coronation also was planned for a Thursday, but on account of the sovereign's illness was postponed until August 9, 1902.

May 27 was considered the most likely Thursday for the present King's coronation because Thursday, May 6, is the anniversary of King George's accession, while May 13 and 20 are too close to Easter.

AUSTRALIANS VOTE TARIFFS

House of Representatives Approves New Schedule After Unsettled

Canadian Press
Canberra, Australia, April 3.—The House of Representatives yesterday gave approval to the remaining items on Australia's proposed new tariff schedule.

Following two setbacks on government proposals involving article 12 of the Ottawa trade agreement with Great Britain, Prime Minister Joseph Lyons had announced the government regarded as vital that its tariff policy be upheld.

A motion to abolish the duty of 58 shillings (about $17) a ton on British barbed wire was tabled. It also would have reduced the duty on Canadian barbed wire from 68 shillings to 50 shillings (about $15) and on foreign barbed wire from 180 shillings to 160 shillings.

Amy Mollison On Speed Flight

Attempting to Set Plane Record From England to Capetown

Canadian Press
Gravesend, Kent, April 3.—Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison winged her way southward today in an endeavor to set a new flight record to Capetown.

The famous flyer took off from the Gravesend airfield at 5.30 a.m. (P.S.T.) in a pale blue and grey monoplane. The plane carried 127 gallons of gasoline, sufficient for a non-stop flight of 2,200 miles. The machine has a cruising speed of 156 miles an hour.

Mrs. Mollison's father said in an interview that she had important business in South Africa to transact and hence was anxious to reach there as quickly as possible. She plans a return flight in the same machine.

But it was generally believed Mrs. Mollison was out to set a new record. She herself set a record for the flight across two continents in 1932, but Flight-Lieutenant Tommy Rose in February of this year broke that mark. His time was three days 17 hours 38 minutes.

POINT-BLANK

GERMANY'S POINT-BLANK REFUSAL to refrain from fortifying the Rhineland now or at any other time lends a sinister aspect to the counter-proposals made by Hitler which not only will harden the attitude of France but will compromise the German position in some British quarters which have been disposed to sympathize with it. The French were quick to note the omission of any reference to fortifications in the remilitarized zone in the Hitler proposals, and they insist that this means that Germany is merely playing for time.

The promise to make no increase in the German troops in the Rhineland while negotiations are going on, and to agree to an international commission for supervisory purposes, Paris said, meant nothing, because if in the meantime fortifications were developed, it would not take long to supply them with troops which were being trained to operate them in other parts of Germany.

The French contend that Hitler's proposals of four months for negotiation, that plebiscites be conducted afterwards, are merely for the purpose of delaying action by the Locarno Pact powers, and the offer of twenty-five-year non-aggression pacts, air agreements, disarmament conference and the return of Germany to the League of Nations is so much bait on the Hitler hook with Britain as the fish to be caught.

Whether the French contention is justified or not, the refusal of Germany to suspend the fortification of the Rhine area admittedly must complicate the situation still further. It is true that France herself has developed an extraordinarily formidable system of defences along her frontier, but she was not prohibited from doing so by any treaty, whereas Germany agreed to the complete demilitarization of the Rhineland both in the Treaty of Versailles and in the Locarno Pact. Great Britain has announced her adherence to the Locarno arrangement under which she undertakes to guarantee Germany against unprovoked aggression by France as well as France against aggression by Germany, so the absence of any undertaking regarding fortification by Hitler in his counter-proposals is unfortunate for the German case, especially in view of Germany's record as a consistent treaty breaker.

In the light of that record and given further time in which to prepare for overt military action, what assurance would there be that when she was ready Germany would not break any fresh covenants which might arise out of the negotiations, which she might try to string out for the greater part of this year? What would she be doing in other quarters in the meantime? Would Japan be ready to strike at Russia during the summer that she is now? Would Germany try to bring Poland and the Jugoslavia within her orbit. Would Fascist Mussolini, with the Ethiopian distraction possibly off his hands, be better prepared to assist Nazi Hitler in the policy of violence to which, sooner or later, every dictator must resort? That Hitler is trying to drive a wedge between Britain and France there can be no question, and it is also evident that he already has divided British opinion on the situation. The aim in that respect would be to draw Great Britain into a combination with Germany, Italy and Japan against France and Russia.

This is the situation as France sees it, and that is why she refuses to accept the remilitarization of the Rhineland and the violation of the Locarno Pact as finished business, and to take a chance on other treaty violations later when Germany might have the advantages she now lacks.

SAFEGUARDING INDIVIDUAL LIBERTY

IN THIS DAY OF DICTATORSHIPS PARTICULAR interest attaches to an address delivered by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill before the British National Institute of Industrial Psychology, in which he made a strong defence of individual liberty against the doctrines of the totalitarian state, which, he said, implied "not merely great political evils, but the death, if those evils are not corrected, of the soul of the nation and the lowering of the glory and the diminution of the stature of mankind."

Mr. Churchill pointed out the degree of civilization to which any country has attained can be judged by two simple tests, the structure of its social organization and the degree of personal freedom enjoyed by all classes in the community. He considers his country could face these tests with some confidence. He added:

"The rights and freedom of the individual must, in my opinion, ever be the dearest wish that can rise in the human heart. I have never taken the view that individuals exist to serve a state or a system. For individuals, it is the state that exists to give to them homes and the power of making all that is best of themselves, and they band themselves together to create a state which under just laws and ancient traditions provides that security in which each individual may realize what is best in himself. Therefore I place in the forefront this idea of individual liberty and dignity of the individual man or woman standing with rights under the Constitution."

Were the test to be applied to Continental Europe many countries would show up very badly indeed, for "the stature of mankind" is reduced when the individual is not secured in a full measure of personal freedom under the state to which he is a subscribing member. That means, as Mr. Churchill argues, the right of a man to choose his calling, or to change it if he will, the right to strike—an essential element in the freedom of the capitalist system is the right to strike—the right to take part in the government of the country, the right to criticize a government, the right to change a government, the sense of association of citizenship shared with the whole body of the nation, the sense of responsibility for the good government of the nation.

All these are essential to the life of the upright and honorable individual in any country in any age. They will be guarded well in Great Britain, where, as Mr. Churchill declares with adequate justification, "the light of freedom is still burning," but in other parts of Europe he finds "there is much cause for anxiety and grief."

A WORTHY APPEAL

TOMORROW THE NURSES AND Women's Auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital will conduct a tag day in the interests of their fine humanitarian service and it is to be hoped that their solicitation will meet with a generous response from the public. The hospital is bearing an exceptionally heavy burden at this time on account of the large number of patients, especially indigents, and not in fifty years has there been so great a demand upon its facilities as there is now.

Those who are unable to pay for hospital service make up between 55 and 60 per cent of the total attendance, a condition that is exhaustive of income and constitutes a special claim upon the gifts of the public. The hospital authorities are glad to report that the taking over of the former nurses' home for the use of chronic indigent patients is proving very satisfactory and means a great increase of comfort to these needy persons.

The duties of the auxiliary are devoted to the purchase of equipment and regular supplies. In this connection the promoters of the tag day would like to remind the public that hospital service is given the full twenty-four hours of every day in the year. The hospital day is really three eight-hour working days. Because of this, hospital beds and linens, for example, are in use three times as long each day as the linens and bed of an average home. There is also the heavy expense of a staff, some of whom are on duty every hour of the day and night.

The reduction of the civic grant, along with the increase in indigent patients, is putting a heavy strain, it is claimed, upon the hospital resources. In view of this the hospital helps make an earnest plea for open purses tomorrow.

A COMMENDABLE PROJECT

THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION IS to be commended for its plan to organize and conduct occupational classes for the unemployed youth of the city. In a letter to the City Council, Dr. Willis, Deputy Minister, explains the nature of the instruction to be given in the school. It is proposed to equip a workshop in automobile mechanics, where those attending the classes will be given a reasonably comprehensive course which should be of marked value because of the widespread use of gasoline engines. Both the theory and practice of automobile mechanics will be taught by a first-class instructor. The classes will be conducted, if necessary, in the morning, afternoon and evening.

The city authorities will co-operate with the Department in this useful enterprise by providing accommodation for the school in the Market Building in the premises formerly occupied by the Friendly Help Society. The city, of course, should provide for the lighting and heating, which is a minor consideration in view of the value to the community of the service to be given by the Department of Education. It may be taken for granted that there will be a large registration of students for these classes who will derive from the instruction they will receive much that will be of practical advantage to them.

STRONGER, NOT WEAKER

COMMENTING ON THE HEALTH Insurance bill as it passed the Legislature, The Vancouver Province says, "The statute which emerges is a hybrid thing, containing in benefits with a grain of iron upon the only question of the population which seems to have maintained no active lobby against it and exempting along with the indigent, every section that did. The result—it can be said without prejudice and it ought to be said as much by the friends of the act as by its opponents—is extremely dubious."

Our contemporary is quite mistaken. The bill emerged from the controversy stronger than it was when it was introduced. None of the amendments reduced the number which the measure was estimated to cover, the government was not committed to any additional expenditure, and provision was made for broadening the scope of the service in several directions. We suggest that our contemporary compare the finished product with the original legislation, and it will find that it has drawn a picture of a transformation which did not take place.

What Other Papers Say

A CANDID CRITIC
The San Francisco Argonaut

We confess that it makes us sick to listen to the caterwauling of American jingoism, for every mother's son of them thinks it is quite right for America to do what they assert it is wrong for alien nations to do. They draw a distinction between sauce for the goose and sauce for the gander that is not to be found in nature.

ETHICS OF EDITORS
The Financial Times

We would suggest that newspaper editors as a class have just as high ideals of service and follow quite as strict a code of ethics as members of our legislative bodies. And members of Parliament might well be governed by that law which demands that an editor shall produce proof of charges made, and further justify the publication of such charges in the public interest, even when the truth of them may be admitted.

THE POWERED SCOOTER
The Halifax Chronicle

The ordinary two-wheel scooter with which the children push themselves along the sidewalk has come in for a more serviceable use. Colonel Turner, one of the speed fliers of the United States, cudgeled his brain about getting away quickly from the airport after alighting, with the result that he called in the idea of the children's scooter.

He had one of these made with wheels about the size of the tail wheels on a transport plane, fixed a flat seat on it, placed a small motor at the rear, which was governed from the handle bars, and presto! evolved a power-driven scooter. It carries a horn and a number plate and costs about a cent to run five miles. It is so small and compact that it is easily carried in the pine and is ready to his hand on alighting at any airport.

WARNING!

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 600 words. Henceforth it positively will not print communications which exceed that length.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent for publication in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether they are published or not, unless they have been specially solicited.

MAUNDY MONEY

To the Editor:—With reference to your paragraph appearing in the Victoria Daily Times of the twenty-sixth inst., stating His Majesty King Edward VIII would personally distribute "Maundy Money" on Maundy Thursday, April 9, I wish to state I am in possession of a piece of Maundy Money to the value of 1½ pence. It is a silver piece dated 1894, and in a good state of preservation. S. G. NICHOLLS, 455 Head Street, Esquimalt.

DAIRIES

To the Editor:—I notice in your column that the City Council intend to enforce the new by-law keeping of cows inside the city limits. To my mind this action is very unfair and practically amounts to confiscation of the property of citizens at present keeping more than two cows within the city limits.

In the past, the city, within a block of the Spanish boundary, one dairyman I know of personally has five or six cows which are kept in a clean and healthy condition, the man is making a fair living and retail milk equal to any in this city. Under the new by-law he will be forced to move from his own property and the barns, etc., now in use will have to be discarded. Who will reimburse him for the loss of the use of his property on which he has paid taxes for the last twenty or more years? In contrast with the above, in Spanish is a milk ranch which is, to put it mildly, disgraceful: the cows roam in a field of stumps which oozes slime that oozes down into the street, and the stench, summer or winter, is abominable.

Leave the small, clean dairyman alone, stop residence of outside municipalities from grazing their cattle on private and city property around Spanish Hill, and make an effort to get some action to abate the nuisance just outside the city limits. FAIRDEALER.

CIVIC AUDITORIUM

To the Editor:—Victoria should have a civic auditorium. Just now, when we are all looking to the tourist trade to help lift us out of the slough of despond and set us on the high way to prosperity, it will be obvious to even the most conservative minds that such a structure is necessary. The uses to which the building could be put are many and varied. Flower shows, dog shows, bazaars, balls, concerts and indoor tennis tournaments are just a few of them. All these events would attract the tourist. Finally, we have a basketball team.

SIDE GLANCES

Joseph Rose Optometrist

the Dominos, of which Victoria should be proud, and it is a crying shame that the big games are held in a pitifully inadequate gymnasium. The interest in basketball is growing rapidly and in the Dominos, Victoria has a tremendous driving card. Given a proper building in which to hold their contests, their following would increase. As it is, hundreds of fans are unable to get seats or even standing room for the games.

We cannot depend entirely on our English atmosphere, handsome policemen and uncertain climate to lure the visitor and hold his allegiance. We must give him entertainment as well, and then entertainment would be the activities of the people in whose country he is a visitor. We cannot hope to give him better, or even match his theatres and highways at home, but we can show him basketball as it should be played and seldom is. The money spent to build and equip an auditorium would be money well spent and like bread cast upon the waters, return to us again.

R. S. KNIGHT, Cordova Bay, Feb. 17, 1936.

RELIEF

To the Editor:—It is reported in today's paper that Mr. Pearson, Minister of Labor, speaking on relief measures, cited a case where a trained first-aid man refused to take a job at $100 a month, preferring to remain on relief at $40 a month. On the face of it, this seems ridiculous and requires some explanation to make sense.

It may be true that some are getting as much on relief as will provide a satisfactory living. They have been used to, but I feel sure there must be some real reason for a man refusing a job at $100 for a month's work.

I have heard it from different men on relief that if they get a job for a month at $100 and then have to go back on relief, they cannot get any more relief money until that $100 is used up at the rate at which they have been receiving relief pay; that is to say, if a man has been receiving $25 a month relief pay and he gets work at $100 a month, he cannot get any more relief until that $100 has been used up at the rate of $25 a month.

I heard of a similar case where a man got work and wages for a couple of months and he thought it was a good idea to pay some of his back debts while he was getting wages. He was afterwards sorry for this, for he had to remain on relief until this money had been used up as mentioned above, and he found himself worse off than if he had not taken the job.

If such as mentioned above is the case, there is certainly no incentive for a man to try to get work or take work if it is offered.

The sole reason for this letter is that the above matter may be aired, and if the law is obviously wrong, conformance may be taken of it and the wrong righted.

SPRING

To the Editor:—Spring, so the calendar tells us, is here, though it feels more like a winter hammer. In spite of the cold and backward season, the spring flowers are pushing their way up through the hard ground and soon the beautiful wild flowers, the white dog tooth violet, will carpet the ground in places where they have been protected or where they have not been destroyed by over picking.

Unlike Arctophila, dens canis, the European variety, our native lily does not increase from the bulb, but depends entirely upon its seed for propagation; therefore, if picked continuously, it must in time die out. May I again appeal to both young and old to refrain from ruthless destruction of this lovely flower, which is not only a joy to the nature lover but an actual financial asset, as many have taken up permanent (Turn to Page 11, Col. 2).

Girls' Central Wins Two Choir Classes

Quadra School Scores Its Fourth Victory in Vocal Group Competitions at Musical Festival

School choirs had the floor for the whole of the afternoon session of the Victoria Musical Festival in First United Church yesterday, with competitions for three major trophies in the Grade 6, Grade 7 or 8 and composite classes.

The J. L. Beckwith Memorial Cup in the Grade 6 class was carried off by Girls' Central School with a score of 84-83-167.

Sir James Douglas School was second with 81-83-164, and Burnside third with 80-82-162.

The winning choir picked "Grasshopper Green," by E. Harold Davies, for its voluntary number.

The compulsory piece was E. Markham Lee's "Snowdrop."

David T. Yacmini, the adjudicator, did not like the way the choirs treated the set number.

"Do you like snowdrops?" he asked each choir in turn. They all answered "yes" with a loud voice.

"Well, you didn't sound as if you did," he said.

HAS PIECE REPEATED
He made all the choirs stand and sing the piece together. "And if I see anyone who isn't smiling—there's a policeman outside," he warned them.

"It's snowdrops you're singing about, not cabbages," he said.

The singing, said Mr. Yacmini, was too square. The pace was all right, but the shape of the singing was not. The winning choir had shape, and its rhythm was lively, although there were weaknesses in the tone.

This choir was best on its soft passages. It made the snowdrop, in the compulsory piece, too heavy, and the grasshopper in the voluntary rather elephantine, the adjudicator commented.

The winning choir was conducted by Miss L. McCall.

QUADRA SCHOOL WINS
Quadra School carried off the Arion Club Shield, presented for competition between Grade 7 or 8 choirs, with a score of 86-85-171.

Cloverdale School was second with 84-85-169, and Sir James Douglas School third with 84-80-164.

The compulsory piece in this class was "The Dream-Seller," a two-part song by E. Markham Lee. The winning choir's voluntary selection was Granville Bantock's "The China Mandarin." All the four other competing choirs chose the same piece.

G. H. E. Green conducted the winning choir.

IS FOURTH VICTORY
This is the fourth choir class to be won by Quadra School in this year's festival. At previous sessions they carried off the honors in the Grades 1, 4 and 5 classes.

Before giving his adjudication, Mr. Yacmini made the competing choirs stand and sing, as in the previous class. This time it was "The Dream-Seller," which was not quite to his liking. He had not found it dreamy enough.

"Every song you sing has a tone-scale of its own. In this song you should never get a fortissimo—it should all be on a small tone scale," he said.

Mr. Yacmini compared the musical line to a string of beads. In the singing of some of the choirs the string was broken and the beads scattered.

CHOIR HAD ELASTICITY
The winning choir, said the adjudicator, had elasticity, and gave its words significance. It had overcome technical difficulties, and could give thought to interpretation. The team work was good. But there was still room for improvement.

The Cloverdale choir was excellent on the last lines of its first number, but the rest was not up to the same standard, said the adjudicator.

GIRLS' CENTRAL AGAIN
The George Jay Challenge Shield, for competition among composite choirs, made up of pupils of any or all grades, fell to Girls' Central School with a score of 87-86-173, in their second victory of the afternoon. "The Lass of Richmond Hill," by Dunhill, was the set piece in this class. All the nine competing choirs chose Arthur Baynon's "Wanderlust" for their second piece.

CLOSE FINISH
Second by a single point in this class was Quadra School with 86-86-172.

George Jay School was third with 84-86-170.

Mr. Yacmini said he had never anywhere seen such large school choirs. But for their size they were not quite powerful enough. There was a suggestion of the Sunday School treat about some of the singing.

He made the choirs stand together and sing "Wanderlust" with more power and less subtlety than they had attempted before.

DESCANT SINGING
In criticizing some of the performances, the adjudicator mentioned the danger of the descant drowning out the main theme.

The Cloverdale choir came in for special mention for its excellent descant singing.

The winning team, said Mr. Yacmini, took everything in its stride, without trying to "monkey around with the song."

The dictation was excellent, and the whole performance was neat and tidy.

The runner-up was commended for dictation and technique.

TIMES CUP IS AWARDED

Marie Louise Vowles Wins Coveted Trophy; Seattle Trio, Donald Brake Win

String competition for The Daily Times trophy, and the fine playing of a junior instrumental trio from Seattle featured yesterday afternoon's session of the Musical Festival at the Metropolitan Institute.

Rae Miller, with eighty marks, was the winner of the group under eighteen for quick piano study. The test piece was "Here They Come," although Harold Samuel said, in his adjudication, its title might have been "Here They Stamp."

"This test piece was too difficult, as most of you made such a poor showing. I advise you to seriously learn the importance of learning to read. It is such a delight to be able to pick up a comic opera score, or a piece of jazz, and be able to read it quite off by sight. You must try to grasp what the thing is about."

Second in this class was Jean Mayhew, with seventy-four marks; and third was Griffith Cameron, with seventy-three marks.

SEATTLE TRIO WINS
An international note crept into the junior instrumental trio class, when the Zeyen sisters of Seattle took the Mrs. J. O. Cameron Cup from the Vancouver Baby Orchestra.

These three little girls played Beethoven's "Trio No. 1," and greatly pleased Mr. Samuel.

"Personally, I have enjoyed this class very much," the adjudicator said. "I have had a very nice afternoon. I might say how very important it is for you to establish your tempo clearly."

Second in this class was the trio from the Vancouver Baby Orchestra, which was awarded eighty-two marks for its rendition of the minuet from the "Miniature Suite" (Bridges).

"He might have put a little more feeling into it, but it was a very good performance—one of the nicest I have heard," said Mr. Samuel, in commenting on the violinello solo of Bernard Smalley of Vancouver, who played Ethel Barnes's "Idylle."

"I have given him eighty-five marks, which, to me, is very high," Mr. Samuel said. "Eighty-five, to me, is just like 125 to other people."

WINS TIMES CUP
The Times trophy for junior strings was brought back to Victoria by tiny Marie Louise Vowles, who captured it from Kay Campbell Connor of Vancouver. She played again at the evening session yesterday. Her first success was in the grade 2 violin class. Her test piece was Mahler's "Mediation in D." Some very fine young students of the violin were heard in this group.

MEN'S ORATORIO CLASS
"This is the best solo class I have adjudicated," said Arthur Cranmer, in speaking of the oratorio class (preliminary) for men. "The standard is really very high. I think, perhaps, we have been brought up a little too much on oratorio," he said, in recommending the music of Schumann and Schubert. "Of course, we must have the big voice to fit in with the orchestra. But it would be well worth your while to study Schumann and Schubert. We've heard some fine music this afternoon, although, perhaps, a little dull in interpretation."

"If your memory isn't very good, I do beg of you to have a book," Mr. Cranmer continued. "There is nothing wrong with it, and I think it is a little more devotional in sacred music—only don't sing into the book. It might also help to give confidence."

"If you want to be a finished singer, believe me, it's work, work, work," he said.

Mr. Cranmer picked J. Maurice Thomas and F. John Bray to sing in the final. Of the others in this class, he awarded eighty-four marks to Harold C. Parfitt for "Thy Glorious Deeds," eighty-one marks each to Rev. Yorga, who sang "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death," and Donald Brake, whose selection was "Lord, God of Abraham," eighty marks each went to Thomas Crabbe, who sang "It Is Enough," and George F. H. Farmer, who sang "Comfort Ye" and "Every Valley."

MEN'S OPERATIC CLASS
Donald Brake, for his singing of "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser," was awarded the Frederick Dellius Cup. He was given eighty-six marks. There has been some frightfully difficult work very well done," said

Metropolitan Winner Of Event For Choirs

Takes W. A. Jameson Shield From First United Choir; Sidney Quartette, Cecilians and E. John Bray Are Other Victors

Only two marks separated the choirs of the Metropolitan Church and the First United Church at the Musical Festival at the First United Church yesterday evening, the former choir winning the W. A. Jameson Challenge Shield with a mark of 169.

"Both these choirs are very well equipped for church work," D. T. Yacmini said in his adjudication. "Both of them are very large, too. But, first of all, such singing must be devotional. Were they devotional? Yes and no. Sometimes they were and sometimes they were not. Both choirs had their moments, lovely moments. Remember one can sing loudly and not sing gladly. Both these choirs made a physical effort, in parts, but certainly not an emotional one."

The test pieces were, "The Day Draws on With Golden Light," and "I Will Lay Me Down in Peace." The Metropolitan choir, under Frank Tupperman, received eighty-six marks and eighty-three, a total of 169.

The First United Church choir, under W. C. Pyrie, received eighty-two marks and eighty-five, a total of 167.

The shield last year was won by the First United Choir.

SIDNEY GROUP WINS
The "Eggar" quartette of Sidney was successful in winning its class over the First United Choir Quartette, the former receiving 166 marks and the latter 157 marks.

"Sometimes you can get away with things in choirs and orchestras that you cannot get away with in quartettes," Mr. Yacmini said.

He said the First United quartette gave an "uneven performance" and the four voices did not blend.

The Sidney quartette, he said, had a very definite character and the blend was good, for which the bass could be thanked. There was spirit to this quartette, he said, as well as blend and balance. There were technical weaknesses, but the men did try to give something and to create an atmosphere. The Sidney group's test pieces were "Sing Me a Shanty" and "Down in Yon Summer Vale." Mr. Yacmini criticized the songs chosen by the First United group, which were "Ships of Arcady" and "Nymphs and Shepherds."

The Eggar choir took the Metropolitan United Choir Challenge Cup held last year by the First United Choir quartette.

ORATORIO FINALS
In the finals of the oratorio class E. John Bray was awarded the George Frederick Handel Trophy for his rendition of "It Is Enough," for which Arthur Cranmer awarded him a total of 174 marks. J. Maurice Thomas, runner-up with his "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death," received 171 marks.

He said the songs chosen were two of the most difficult, but were "beautifully done."

George Farmer held this trophy last year.

IRISH SONGS
Violet Wilson was successful in the Irish Folk Song class and won the John Hart Cup with her selection, "Silent, O Moyle. She received 80 marks."

"The basis of all folk songs is tune," said Mr. Cranmer, "and unless you have this well defined the very essential sense of singing folk songs is gone. We have not had a very good example of this."

He said Miss Wilson had "the nearest approach to this ideal, and made a very good attempt at atmosphere."

Doreen Briggs received 86 marks in this class, and William J. Lyle 70 marks.

CECILIAN'S WIN
An interesting competition was provided by the Cecilians and the Georgian Chorists, the former winning with 171 marks, the latter group receiving 167 marks.

"It gives us great pleasure to know that some ladies get together and practice their music," Mr. Yacmini said in his adjudication. "When many ladies get together they do not practice, it is quite refreshing to know that the ladies of Victoria, when together, do not waste their time."

The test pieces in this class were "Little Gypsy Dandelion" and "Aye Me, Alas," by the Cecilians, and "Weary Wind of the West" and "Hymn to Night" by the Chorists. The winners of this event took the Gilbert and Sullivan Cup from the Wednesday Trio Club, which did not compete.

INSTRUMENTAL TRIO
The Bucklin Trio Cup was retained by Margaret Pringle, John Pimm and Herbert Botten. They received 82 marks and were the only entry in this class.

The adjudicator said of this class that the actual pace was a bit too slow and the lack of contrast was the chief drawback.

"But after all my complaints I

Mr. Cranmer, speaking to the contestants in this group.

He gave them some advice, and said that when he held his jaw tightly it shook. He said the jaw should be held naturally.

"In golf your rotten shot is the stab," he said. "It is the one that goes through the hole. Do try and swing through on your climax."

Second in this group was Philip Heal, who received eighty-four marks for his rendition of "Vision Fugitive." Thomas Crabbe and Norman Tyrrell each received eighty-two marks, and Douglas Hodgson seventy-one marks.

“Five Bob” Makes Audience Laugh

English Adjudicator Forgets About Dollars and Cents, Much to Delight of Audience

Arthur Cranmer, vocal adjudicator at the Musical Festival quite unconsciously made his audience at the Metropolitan Church yesterday afternoon roar with laughter, but by quick reprieve had the laugh on them, although again he was unaware of it.

He was urging the men's oratorio class to sing the works of Schumann and Schubert. He said books containing seventy or eighty songs could be obtained for "five bob."

The audience roared with laughter at this and Mr. Cranmer looked startled for he had said nothing funny, he thought.

But then the light dawned on him and he quickly corrected himself. "I mean a dollar and a half," he said.

According to C. L. Forsling, United States forester, lumber may be traced to its tree by its wood prints, which have about the same rating and function as finger prints.

BUSINESS CLUB SEES FINE RUGS

Modern and antique hand-hooked rugs of beautiful design and coloring, made by the friends of the club, formed an attractive exhibit at the clubrooms, Union Building, when the Business and Professional Women's Club held their usual Thursday evening "open house" yesterday evening.

Mrs. I. M. Abbott and Mrs. James A. Bland were the hostesses. Mrs. Abbott showed several beautiful rugs, including one of over a hundred years old, lent by Mrs. A. D. Crease, who also loaned one in the process of making. Mrs. Bland also showed one which she is making.

Mrs. V. Bartholomew, the president, exhibited several of the very fine specimens made by herself and her mother, Mrs. G. P. Napier, and Miss Ormiston showed one of her own handwork. In addition, the making of the rugs was demonstrated and a book of designs studied with much interest.

The rooms were gay with daffodils and greenery, and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

King's Daughters' Annual Tea Is Colorful Affair

The Misses Spencer Hostesses For Daffodil Tea Yesterday; Attractive Stalls and Musical Numbers

Although the reluctant appearance of spring militated against the usual display of flowers and plants which has been a feature of these teas since their inauguration twenty-six years ago, the annual Daffodil Tea of the noon was a colorful and popular function.

Held at "Landerwen" Moss Street, the home of the Misses Agnes and Mary Spencer, the affair attracted a large number of members of the order and friends, Mrs. William Russell, the president, receiving the guests on arrival, and introducing Mrs. H. Essoy Young, who formally opened the affair.

TRIBUTE TO FAMILY

Mrs. Young, in her graceful little address congratulated the order on the attainment of its fiftieth jubilee, the anniversary of the first meeting of the annual daffodil tea twenty-six years ago. She paid tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. David Spencer, recalling her love of humanity and serene philosophy, and her conclusion noted that her daughters were carrying on the family tradition of hospitality and love of humanity in opening their home to the order in aid of its benevolent work.

Mrs. Russell, on behalf of the order, presented fragrant carnage bouquets to Mrs. Young and to the Misses Spencer.

The reception rooms were arranged with bowls of daffodils and pink tulips. The attractive musical programme, arranged by Miss Kathleen Roberts, included solos charmingly sung by Mrs. Harry Leasby, Mrs. Styles and Mrs. H. Hamlet, ably supported at the piano by Mrs. Chas Conyers, Miss Thain also contributed pianoforte selections.

ATTRACTIVE STALLS

In the spacious entrance hall were erected the prettily decorated stalls. The touch-and-take stall, an attractive arbor of yellow crepe paper, with touches of green and violet, was in charge of Mrs. W. G. Cameron, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. F. Williams, Mrs. Dinsmore and Mrs. J. Muirhead.

Delicious home-made candy, in the most fascinating flower-like holders, ideal for Easter gifts, found ready sale at the stall in charge of Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. A. Campbell, Mrs. T. D. Roberts, Mrs. B. Armstrong, the Misses Kathleen Roberts, Amy Conyers and Jessie Gordon.

Miss E. Clearhouse had charge of the weight-guessing contest for the handsome basket of home-made candy, which was won by Mrs. McDougall, who guessed the exact weight, two pounds two ounces.

Tea was served in the dining-room, the table being centred with a lovely combination of pale mauve stocks and daffodils, with tall yellow tapers in silver candelabra. Presiding at the tea urn were Mrs. F. Moore, Miss Agnes Reaney, Mrs. B. R. Watson and Mrs. L. H. Hardie. The tea was conveyed by Mrs. A. M. Perry, who was assisted by two members from each circle: Mrs. A. T. Harvey, Mrs. J. McElfrish, Mrs. J. D. Brown, Mrs. R. S. Forster, Mrs. L. D. Brumpton, Miss Gill, Miss Betty Thora, Miss Molly Scott, Miss Doreen Dodsworth, Miss Doreen Maynard, Miss Hazel Hall, Miss Thelma Dobb and Miss Phyllis Dodsworth.

In charge of tea tickets were Mrs. J. Muirhead, Mrs. Peter Sharp and Mrs. O. H. Kingham. Little girls of the Junior Circle also assisted at the foot.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Emery, of Nelson, B.C., who have been spending the winter in Long Beach, California, will be house guests over the weekend of their brother-in-law, Mr. J. W. Holmes, 2118 Granite Street, Oak Bay.

DIRECTS SOVIET BEAUTY AIDS

Mme. Olga Karpovskaya Studies Newest Methods in United States

Associated Press
New York, April 3.—Madame Olga Karpovskaya, dark-haired, "Caucasian" of beauty culture in Soviet Russia, calls for her home tonight, after an exhaustive study of American methods.

She is the wife of V. M. Molotoff, president of the Soviet Council of Commissars, one of Soviet Stalin's most powerful aides.

For ten years, she has had the job of making Soviet women more beautiful.

When she started, bolshevik "shock troops" were still the vogue. Soviet women were giving their time to the first five-year plan—But steadily, the emphasis on life has changed.

"At the cafes, there are orchestras and happy throngs, women beautifully-gowned and well-groomed. It is the same as in Paris, London, New York or Washington," Madame Karpovskaya said.

BAD POSTURE CAUSES BEAUTY DEFECT
"Perfect posture is a good deal more than standing straight," says Donald Loomis, trainer of Hollywood stars. "It means stomach in, shoulders square and backbone straight, of course—but it also means—holding and controlling muscles which keep abdominal organs in proper position."

"Poor posture causes a large percentage of malnutrition, indigestion and the chronic tired feeling we hear so much about these days. Many women who always are too tired to move wouldn't be if they'd move, stand and sit correctly," Mr. Loomis continues.

When you hold any muscle or any bone in an unnatural position for any length of time, it and the area of the body around it, become tired and cramped. Knowing this, how can those of you who allow your backbones to curve exaggeratedly inward across the centre act surprised and worried because you have aches in back and neck?

To get yourself lined-up correctly, first of all remember that you should stand and walk with weight on the balls of the feet. Also that you should stand tall as though a cord attached to the ceiling constantly is pulling your head and neck upward out of your shoulders and stretching your lazy backbone.

Don't throw your shoulders backward, pulling your chin in and throwing your hips backward until there is a decided curve in the centre of your spinal column. Your shoulders should be reasonably square—certainly not rounded and sloping, but yet not forced backward uncomfortably. Your chin ought to be up and in, not down and in. Hips must be carried forward with the vertebrae at the base of the backbone turned in.

The forest measuring worm, when alarmed, will stand out so straight and still from a limb that even the birds think him a small twig and pass him by.

Stalin Greets British Girl

Young "Railway Queen"
Feted as Ambassador to Moscow; London Pageant
of Women

London (Special Correspondence)—A fifteen-year-old English girl, Audrey Mosson, is the Cinderella of a modern fairy story recently played out in Moscow.

She was feted there as Queen of Great Britain's Railways. Every year a girl, the daughter of a railwayman, is chosen for this honor. This year Audrey Mosson has been crowned and has been sent to Soviet Russia from her Blackpool, Lancashire, home to greet the Soviet women on behalf of the British Railway Workers' Guild.

For her age, Audrey is remarkably self-possessed and beautiful. These qualities, allied with her great natural charm have won her the title of "Ambassador of Goodwill" in the Soviet newspapers.

She was lauded by the Soviet women at the International Women's Day celebration held in the Grand Opera House in Moscow.

She shared the honors with the Soviet leaders, Stalin, Molotov and Dimitroff in being elected a member of the managing committee.

Her speech in acknowledging this honor won her hearty applause from Stalin and the other Soviet leaders.

With Audrey in Moscow were eleven other Englishwomen and French, Dutch, Czechoslovakian and Belgian women. They constitute the foreign delegation to the International Women's Day celebration which are designed to serve as a reminder that the Soviet women, as an equal member of society, take a most active part in all branches of economic, social and cultural life in the U.S.S.R.

CHILDREN GIVE TO RED CROSS

Rural Districts Gave Pennies;
Lord Tweedsmuir's Congratulations

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 3.—Pennies sent in by zealous boys and girls in rural districts and money contributed in drives gave the Red Cross $472,962 of their revenue of $770,752 last year. More than $20,000 of that amount, however, was spent in emergency welfare measures that have become the peace-time care of Canada's greatest welfare organization.

Distress by fire was relieved in New Brunswick, outposts hospitals built in Canada's hinterland, living clubs organized for old soldiers with small pensions, classes supplied for children and teeth given those unable to buy them. Clothes, bedding, special food, surgical supplies and nursing services were also provided.

Such was the bird's-eye view of reports from Halifax to Vancouver presented at the fortieth annual meeting of the central council of the Red Cross Society of Canada. Lord Tweedsmuir, president of the society, presided. The Governor-General expressed "gratified amazement" at the scale of the work and the balanced budget. He mentioned "the war that never ends—the struggle against poverty and pain—and told the assembly they should hold themselves ready as emergency or shock troops. He warned against "duplicate activities," but the Red Cross had shown wisdom in this respect. He wished others had followed.

Report of the national commissioner, J. L. Bigger of Toronto, summarized the history of the Red Cross Society in Canada. The report dealt with public health nursing, the sixty-four outposts hospitals that last year cared for 25,777 patients, the Junior Red Cross that enlisted approximately 1,500,000 Canadian school children and inspired them to health habits, relief in the destitute and drought areas and service to 10,000 soldiers.

G. F. McMaster of Vancouver described changes in the Red Cross Society in British Columbia. In small communities, he said, blankets were sometimes made from felt thrown out by the paper mills.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 3.—Task of providing for Canadians undergoing hardships of depression does not rest as heavily on the shoulders of the Red Cross Society as it did a year ago. Col. J. L. Bigger of Toronto, national commissioner, told delegates to the fortieth annual meeting. Every division, however, was engaged in providing one or more forms of relief.

In scores of communities, he said, the Red Cross continued to provide for the needs of the destitute, but as the organization of relief by municipal and provincial governments had become more comprehensive, the society had busied itself more actively with outposts hospital work and public welfare problems.

THRIFT TEACHING DEPENDS ON CONSISTENT EXAMPLE

It is pretty hard to teach children thrift when every copper in the pocket is precious. Many parents cannot give their children an allowance, however small. But has it ever occurred to you that this very experience teaches much in itself? In an atmosphere of forever scraping for nickels and dimes the child learns the real meaning of money.

Children of the needless family, the extravagant one and the let-a-be-merry-today home where holes burn in every pocket and small change is treated without reverence, that has a job ahead of it teaching little Henry conservation. Perhaps he doesn't know that his daddy does without lunch to buy cigarettes or his mother without new tea towels to buy lipstick. But he does see the cigarettes and the lipstick and to his small mind they are both foolish things.

Parents have the right to buy what they want and need, without the approval of the small fry, of course. But my point is that little folk may be slow in evaluating money as long as the other members of the family spend it for things these tots think foolish.

ALLOWANCE PLAN FAILS, TOO

Actually, I have found that the theory of the weekly stipend for a child, say twenty-five cents, ten to put in his bank and fifteen to lay out on candy or movies, has not proved the wonder it promised. In some cases, yes. But money in the bank, abstract money, that doesn't seem to impress a boy or girl the way it should. It may rattle pleasantly and he may simply not be able to contain himself for joy when he hears he has almost enough to go in the big bank next Saturday. But mostly he is indifferent. I think.

If the idea is consistently carried out to a pre-planned point, much good may result. This I concede. But after a month or two the paymaster may lose interest. Henry's bank is the last to get fed. Not only this, but when two and two won't make five for the milkman, his bank too often makes up the deficit.

If everything has worked out successfully and his china pig has had its regular ration, has not been turned upside down too often to disgorge his feed and is prized by its owner as a real treasure, I earnestly plead that Henry be allowed to continue as a real entity for good in Henry's life.

The value of the bank is indisputable when other things are favorable and work in conjunction. But the bank alone is not enough. There must be a general attitude of thrift in family life, and a seriousness about spending and saving. If Henry is to be a save-thrift instead of a spendthrift. Why make him the goat and explain the virtue of keeping an ace in the hole, or an umbrella for a wet day, when the rest of the family never thinks of putting a dime away? WRITES "GHOST" SPEECHES AT PROFITABLE RATES

Mukwanago, Wisconsin.—The telephone rings. Long distance is calling Mrs. Alice Craig Edgerton. A judge in a neighboring town is scheduled to give an address in Pittsburgh. He is extremely busy and would like the speech written. He names his subject and little else.

A special delivery air mail letter the same day brings a request from a Filipino boy in a western city for an "oration" on Philippine independence to be delivered at a Rizal Day celebration.

A graduating nurse in New York writes, asking for a poem to be used in a presentation speech.

A senior in a state college in Oklahoma needs material for a debate—he wants both sides of the question. A Rotary Club member wants a short, snappy talk and a few up-to-date jokes. An acquaintance has lost a friend and wishes to send a letter of sympathy.

AUTHORITY ON SPEECHIFYING
Mrs. Edgerton of Mukwanago, Wisconsin writes them all. That is her business—one of her businesses anyway—writing speeches. At a dinner recently three of the addresses and the toastmaster's speech were hers.

Her book, "A Speech for Every Occasion," contains two hundred speeches on as many different subjects, and a new book is "More Speeches and Stories for Every Occasion."

But Mrs. Edgerton has other strings to her bow. The doorbell rings. It is a woman who has recently been bereaved and wishes to probate her husband's estate. Soon she and Mrs. Edgerton are deep in discussion of the will, deeds, securities and bank deposits, and in the preparation of a petition necessary to start probate proceedings. For Mrs. Edgerton is a lawyer, admitted to the bar in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Just before bedtime, the doorbell rings again. A young man inquires for a Justice of the Peace. He blushingly confesses that he and the young woman with him want to be married. So the ceremony is performed with all the solemnity of a church wedding. For Mrs. Edgerton has been Justice of the Peace in her home town for eight years.

Friends sometimes drive a hundred miles from Chicago for Mrs. Edgerton's boiled dinners. And on her farm she grows watermelons and muskmelons that are famous for miles around.

Left a widow at thirty, with no business training, Mrs. Edgerton, without instruction, mastered stenography and typing, and got a job

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

Cereals are usually one of the first solid foods to be offered the young baby. At five months of age, or thereabouts, one spoonful of smooth, delicately-warmed cereal is introduced into baby's mouth and immediately followed by milk from his bottle.

Never having had any experience with this thick substance, the baby will roll it about, while much of it oozes from his mouth and has to be spooned back. For a few days, one spoonful is all that need be given him. Then increase the amount up to several tablespoons, judging the amount by baby's reaction to it and his obvious relief for it.

The pre-cooked cereals made just for babies are enjoying great popularity, but any fine grained cereal properly cooked can be used for these first cereal feedings. About four tablespoons of cereal to a pint of water is the usual proportion. When the slightly salted water is boiling briskly, sprinkle in the cereal, a little at a time, and stir constantly for five minutes. Then set the kettle in the top of the double boiler, cover and cook for an hour.

Coarse cereals which can be given the older child will demand more lengthy cooking. From six to eight tablespoons of oats or rice can be used with one pint of water. If the baby shows any laxative tendency with the coarser meal, this may be helped by sieving the cereal after it is cooked.

Other information on feeding the first year is contained in the leaflet, "Additional Foods During the First Year," which may be had by sending a self-addressed and three-cent stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldrid of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Since nothing could so quickly destroy the baby's desire for this new food as to discover it to be a gummy unappetizing mass, it is essential that baby's first experiences with cereal be delightful ones which he yearns to repeat.

I.O.D.E. CHAPTER WILL HOLD TEA

Duncan, April 3.—The monthly meeting of the Cowichan Chapter I.O.D.E. was held at the home of Mrs. James Craig, Wednesday afternoon. The chapter had been asked to sponsor a candidate for queen of the sweet pea festival, but decided not to undertake this. They offered, however, to decorate the queen's float for the occasion.

The chapter will hold its annual empire tea on Thursday, May 21, and the empire day ceremony at the school will take place on Friday morning, May 22. Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Victoria, will be asked to be present and to address the children. Mrs. Dawson-Thomas was appointed the chapter's delegate to the annual health centre meeting on April 28.

Mrs. A. S. Irvine was proposed as a new member.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliott

Zoe had a willow switch which was proving quite ineffectual. Finally Dr. Kaye managed to grip Jock's collar and drag him away. Zoe, almost sobbing, received the battered little terrier into her arms.

"You naughty puppy! You deserve to be whipped. Why don't you obey me?"

John Kaye, following her, picked up the folded paper she had dropped.

CHAPTER XLIII

A brassy sun wheeled across a molten sky. Here and there were clumps of mesquite and sagebrush. But there was not one single living thing in sight save the tall, slim girl in riding tights who stumbled across that dreary desert.

It seemed to Katharine she had been walking for hours. The wrist watch strapped to her slender wrist told her it was 11:30 o'clock. Any moment now, she told herself gallantly, she might see the car and the tent and the little group of civilized human beings she had left behind. Any moment—yes, meantime, she must keep on going. To stop meant madness.

If she only had a single drink of water! Just half a glass... quarter of a glass to quench the thirst that already tortured her. She thought of the mountain stream in which she had carelessly bathed yesterday morning, thinking nothing of the immense flowing over the golden rocks. She thought of mounds of sherbet, pinner parties, lemon yellow served at dinner parties. She thought of ice, tinkling in a tall glass...

Your head whirled, dwelling on these things. Better to think of something else.

She sang songs, lightly, until her cracked throat rebelled. She was dead tired now but still she stumbled on, the harsh sand drifting above the tops of her jodhpur boots. Once she tore at the top button of her pongee shirt and released it as if better to breathe.

Frank Millard would find her, or Dirk. They would laugh at this adventure later on. Or would they? She remembered reading the story of a man and woman lost in the desert. They had been middle-aged lovers. The man had left his heart medicine at home so as not to appear handicapped to his bride, the woman had not worn her spectacles for the same reason. And so both had perished, one because of his seizure, the other because she could not see to lead them out of their trouble.

Ah, but Katharine was young and strong! She shuddered, remembering the story. That could not happen to her. Death was something far away and unreal, not to be faced just now. She saw a far-away speck in the sky and whirled, her heart in her mouth, thinking it might be a plane and that she might signal it. But it was only a great bird—there were other birds in its wake—wheeling and circling. Buzzards!

Horror—horror! It tore at her throat. The sense of it, closing in on her, made her shiver as with ague. Five minutes—had it only been five minutes since she glanced at her watch dial last? It seemed hours—years!

A sagehen rose from her ankle. She stumbled. Fell. Rising again, she realized that she had hurt her ankle cruelly. Not a sprain, perhaps, but nearly so. She stumbled on...

There was no pity in the aching sky, no living thing in all the world to pity her. Only the burning and heat and silence, and far-off, the birds wheeling and swooping.

There were no planes to be had nearer than Claymore, Hilda Hillard told Michael lifelessly. Fifty miles back, the way they had come. Even then it was not certain. It was an emergency landing field.

"Will you come with me, so that I shan't lose the way?" Michael demanded.

Evelyn Vincent stepped forward. Of course Hilda must go. It was their only chance.

Michael winced at the words. Hilda climbed into the seat, and the motor of the shabby car spun and roared. Michael remembered little of that mad ride. Fifty miles over desert roads. Claymore in the distance, and—merciful God!—the wings of a ship visible over the little rise.

The pilot was a tubby little man with a moustache. Clem Wilbur from Santa Fe, he said, introducing himself. His own ship—he made a hobby of it—but if the lady or the gentleman wanted to go up, why, sure, he'd be glad to.

Michael, briefly, explained. Clem Wilbur whistled. Yes, he knew the region. Come along—they'd get started pronto.

Hilda got back into the car Michael had been driving. She said she would go back to Miss Vincent. The poor lady would be half-distracted. Hilda as yet, wouldn't let herself think of Dirk—or Frank either. Of course, they were old hands at this desert business. And yet—she never knew!

By the time she'd got the motor running, Clem Wilbur had taxied to the end of the field. The little ship rose surely. Hilda brushed her hands across her eyes. Of course, the whole thing was a nightmare...

The ship made a steady course southward. Michael's heart was hammering against his ribs.

This man Wilbur was a clever pilot. He banked and swerved, dipping low, and Michael strained his eyes until they ached. Once he saw something white fluttering and his heart leaped, but coming closer—dangerously close—to earth they saw it was only a woman's torn scarf, caught on a jagged rock.

The little ship circled and swooped. "She's here—some place," Michael said. "We can't help but find her."

"Oh, sure, certainly," the fat man said politely. But he was not so sure they would be in time, if they did find her. He knew the desert.

Michael Heatherstone had not prayed since he was a child. His mother had taught him to pray, but somewhere along the line he had forgotten. The words came back to him now. Child's words. Simple, imploring.

"God, don't let anything happen to her."

That was a prayer. If a crude one. There was a pain in his chest, as though a giant hand squeezed his heart.

"What to do, on brother?"

That was the pilot speaking. The fat, amiable pilot who had a date that night back in his home town and wanted to keep it.

"I'll make it worth your while to keep going."

"Oh, sure, okay, brother."

There was silence for a while, during which Michael's eyes raked the countryside spread below him. A barren, hellish waste, he told himself. A cruel land. Then he gasped.

"Good God—I think I see it!"

He handed over the field glasses. The pilot nodded.

It was a huddled figure they saw ahead on the desert floor. Khaki-colored clothes. A bright scarf.

Wilbur made a beautiful landing. Michael never knew afterward how he got out of the plane. He remembered stumbling as he ran, and he remembered hearing the soft, hurried breathing of the little man who followed him.

"Got her, brother?"

Michael nodded. He had Katharine's head in his arms. Now he was lifting her, carrying her gently as though she were infinitely fragile.

She was unconscious—she was breathing! She was alive, thank God!

Her poor, pretty lips were swollen. Her face was stained and streaked. There was a scratch across one cheek. They had her in the plane now, Michael holding her close.

"Guess she had a bad time of it, huh?"

The fat little man turned his ship back toward Claymore. There was a doctor here, he said.

They put her to bed in the house of the woman whose husband was in charge of the flying field. A bare ranch house, but the linen was clean and the little bare room had a shade at the window. The doctor came, a shabby man in baggy clothes, and Michael waited in an agony as Mrs. Darragh and the physician disappeared within.

"Guess I'll be pushing off, brother," Wilbur said. Michael said, "Wait a minute." With hands that shook a little, he fumbled for his wallet.

The pilot shook his head, as though regretfully. "Sorry, brother, but I can't take it. 'Twouldn't be right. I've got a girl myself."

"She's my wife," Michael said.

"No fooling? Well, congratulations, brother."

"You think she's going to be all right?"

"Why, sure. She'll be right as rain. See if she isn't."

Michael wrung the man's hand. Whatever happened, he could never thank this man. Some day, perhaps, he could try.

CHAPTER XLIV

Zoe said, "My dear, I'm terribly sorry. I knew you'd have to know sooner or later, but I hoped it would be some other way."

The marriage certificate of Michael Heatherstone and Katharine Stryker lay on the table between them and Dr. Kaye. He glanced at it, glanced at Zoe.

"But I had thought," he said in a puzzled tone, "when she left I certainly thought..."

Zoe patted his hand. "I don't know what this is all about," she said. "But I'm certain Katharine never meant to hurt anyone. She must have had a very good reason for not telling us."

The lean, ascetic young doctor flushed under his recent tan.

"I don't doubt it."

"You—you were crazy about her, weren't you?" Zoe asked simply. He nodded.

"I've been there myself," she added after a moment. "I guess you know about that. Loving anyone and finding out you don't count, and feeling nothing's worth while... but you know all about that. You saved me from something terrible. I'll never forget it. That's why I wish I could help now."

"It's all right," Dr. Kaye muttered. "It's my own fault. I was just a fool. I guess."

Much, much later, after he had gone, Zoe reviewed the scene, remembering the way he had looked—the hurt in his eyes. She had tucked the tell-tale document away in an envelope and had mailed it to Katharine at Silencia, Roanoke, New Mexico. With that out of her hands, she felt definitely safer.

It was a pity Dr. Kaye had had to learn the news that it had been for Grace and her hateful shepherd dog it never would have happened. Grace was definitely a trouble maker, but this time she had been an unwitting one.

It was a pity Dr. Kaye had had to learn the news that it had been for Grace and her hateful shepherd dog it never would have happened. Grace was definitely a trouble maker, but this time she had been an unwitting one.

Zoe went through the morning rose surely. Hilda brushed her hands across her eyes. Of course, the whole thing was a nightmare...

"I guess the doctor dropped this," Zoe took it. John Kaye's pigskin glove. It was a special golfing glove, one of an old and beloved pair. She recognized it.

"Thanks, Gerda. I'll see he gets it."

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Of all the milk products, cheese is by far the most important. For centuries it has been the chief constituent of diet in many countries. One pound of cheese usually represents the amount of casein and fat that is available in a gallon of average milk. It is a valuable concentrated food, rich in vitamin A, and particularly rich in calcium and phosphorus.

The United States consumes about 12,000,000,000 and 700,000,000 pounds of cheese annually. That's a little less than five pounds a person, which is much below the consumption in Europe; but the amount of cheese eaten in America is steadily increasing.

As many as 400 varieties of cheese now are available. Most of the domestic brands come from Wisconsin and New York. All come under strict supervision of the Food and Drug Administration, which has established definite standards of quality.

Probably the most common brand of cheese in America is Cheddar, which is the ordinary brick cheese. There are also cottage cheese, cream cheese, Neuchâtel, Brie, Camembert, Edam, Swiss, Gorgonzola, Limburger, Parmesan, Pineapple, Roquefort and Stilton. The differences among these are due to the various micro-organisms which take part in their ripening.

The materials of importance that cheese has to offer are well utilized in the body. Cheese has had a bad reputation because of the difficulty in digesting it. But it must be remembered that cheese usually is eaten at hours other than meal time, or at the end of a meal which in itself may be more than sufficient.

If eaten as part of a meal and well chewed, cheese is just as digestible as most other protein products. Distillation takes place chiefly in the intestines.

Today's Health Questions

Q.—Does oleomargarine have as much food value as butter?

A.—A reliable diet list states that oleomargarine has a value of 777 calories for each 100 gm. Butter is set down as having 795 calories per 100 gm. There is, therefore, slight difference in the caloric value, but butter contains important vitamins that are lacking in oleomargarine.

BRITISH SHIPPING TO BE DISCUSSED

London, April 3.—Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, at the annual dinner of the Chamber of Shipping, yesterday evening indicated the government was ready to discuss means of solving the problem of subsidized United States shipping in the Pacific.

He was prepared, the cabinet minister said, to suggest to his colleagues in the government that "Britain should not be dependent on foreign flags for the maintenance of her empire links."

Earle Page, Deputy Prime Minister of Australia, and R. G. Menzies, Attorney-General in the Commonwealth government, are here for the negotiations.

Two B.C. Fishermen Missing in Gulf

Vancouver, April 3.—William Hepburn, fifty-seven-year-old Vancouver fisherman, and another man known only as McKenzie, have been missing since March 20 when they left here in the thirty-two-foot fish boat "H.G." to fish for herring around Nanaimo. It was reported yesterday by provincial police here.

Police said the two men left here in company with several other fishing boats with the intention of returning on March 23. The other boats have returned, but no word has been heard from the missing craft.

Acquaintances of Hepburn stated that trouble had been experienced with the fishing boat's engine recently, and that this may account for their tardiness.

EASTER CARDS ARE CLEVERLY SIMPLE

Handsome Easterish, the 1936 array of cards is more colorful and attractive than ever before although as in these typical specimens, the designs are less ornate and the sentiments more straightforward. In addition to the usual Easter symbolism—rabbits, chicks, flowers and religious objects—many cards this year cater to the vogue for dogs and cat portraits.

PSYCHOLOGY CLASS FORMED

Rev. E. F. Church Head of Society at Metropolitan; Presentation Made

At the closing meeting of the Metropolitan Church psychology study group yesterday evening, the members presented Rev. E. F. Church, B.A., with a series of books by some of the modern writers on the subject as a token of their appreciation of his helpful teaching during the course. In view of the enthusiasm shown, it was decided to organize a permanent psychological society composed of members of this and previous classes. Other persons interested will be invited to attend.

The purpose of this organization is the study of modern psychology, particularly in regard to its application to the problems of everyday life.

The following officers were elected to serve the society: President, Rev. E. F. Church; first vice-president, Cecil James; second vice-president, Reginald N. E. Harris; secretary-treasurer, Miss Florence E. Johnston; and assistant secretary, Miss Edith Hopkins.

The next meeting of the society will be held Thursday, April 9, at 8 p.m., in Metropolitan Church.

SPRING

residence in and around Victoria attracted by the beauty of our spring flowers.

Be moderate in picking wild flowers and leave some so that future generations may have the pleasure that is ours today.

A. R. SHERWOOD.

CORRECTION

To the Editor:—In the middle of the fourth paragraph of my letter, published in today's Times, two mistakes have crept in which should be rectified if it is agreeable to you:

"Which some professing have erred concerning the faith," least he be increasingly spoiled, should read, "Which some professing have erred concerning the faith," lest he be increasingly spoiled.

THE WEATHER

To the Editor:—Those of your readers who may have kept a record of the temperature of Victoria during the present and past cold waves cannot fail to have been puzzled by the vast difference in the readings of their own thermometers to those of the Commercial Hill station.

There has never been an occasion on which my thermometer, which hangs on the wall outside my house, has not shown at least five or six degrees more frost than that of the official one at Commercial Hill; frequently I have found the ground outside frozen hard and on turning to the weather report in the newspaper for that day and found no frost recorded at all.

I admit if the official thermometer is put in a screened place this would account for the difference in the readings. I cannot help thinking it would be better policy to give a less misleading report of the temperature, as visitors to Victoria have frequently expressed their annoyance to me at what they call inaccuracy. They go away disappointed and quite naturally because poor publicity agents for our city.

There is no need for this. We all want to see Victoria become a winter resort and surely all that is necessary is to let our usually excellent climate encourage visitors to come here.

VICTORIAN.

MISLEADING

To the Editor:—On March 28 you printed a feature story which states that the logging business on Vancouver Island is booming. One of the districts specified as enjoying a very big improvement was the terrain between Otter Point and Jordan River. The Times story grossly exaggerates the extent of the work being done in this district. There has been some improvement in conditions, but there are still able-bodied loggers out of work here; some are on relief, others are eking out an existence as casual laborers.

There will have to be far, far greater increase in industry to absorb the labor available on the spot. Misleading publicity of the kind we now profess against is bound to bring in job seekers from outside. Some already have started to arrive here, with no hope of wrestling a bare existence from industry as it stands here now. If you care to take a census of the white workmen actually employed this season and of those who have immediate hope of employment, you will find that this statement is true.

Please publish this warning to those who may have been misled by revivalist ballyhoo concerning this district. Not more than forty white men are now employed in the logging industry between Otter Point and Jordan River and all but one small outfit appear to have a full crew for this season.

We, of course, do not attempt to speak of conditions in other sections of Vancouver Island.

WORKERS' AND FARMERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.
Shirley (V.I.) Branch.
F. O. ALDHAM, Secretary.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—The Times did not say the logging business of Vancouver Island was "booming." Its article had to do with a combination of standing timber. Transactions with logging and sawmill operations which together reflected a condition of unusual activity for the whole island.

THE WAR CYCLE

To the Editor:—Once again we merge into the cycle of "war." The handwriting is on wall, floor, and ceiling. The same subtle methods of procedure, and propaganda. Only the issue is in any way different.

Walled in the past, we have generally speaking, been for the purpose of subjugating some foe for commercial gain, the war of tomorrow (about one year hence) will be a straight issue between fascism and socialism. Britain aligned with Italy, Germany and Japan, will constitute the hub of an empire, with the subjugation of Russia, France, northern China, and some of the lesser socialist nations as their aim. Nothing can prevent this massacre. It is part of the evolutionary process, the dying struggle of an unjust society in order to maintain its rotting foundation.

Praying to God will not help. The Germans prayed in the last war, and the fact that they won is no criterion of prayer answered, for, were not the British, the French, and all the other allied nations praying just as hard?

The Bible says: "Thou shalt not kill." Then why pray whilst you ram the bayonet in? There is nothing more nauseating than a hypocrite, and a hypocritical nation is just "more so."

It is not a matter of "if" but "when" the next slaughter will be so terrible that surely the people who are left will insist that the profits be taken out of war, and maybe the war out of profits, too. Well! let's hope so.

THOMAS BATESON.

WHY NOT VICTORIA?

To the Editor:—I have always believed that charity began at home and that most certainly business did. The following extract from a letter received here in Victoria from a Victoria firm should prove the fact that to my mind it is altogether too bad that Victoria does not seem to have followed this example and have local firms tender on work to be carried out in Victoria, and have that work carried out by Victoria firms.

H. M. McGUIVER.

121 Pemberton Building, April 2.

The following is the letter:

March 13, 1936.
Corporation of District of West Vancouver, Municipal Hall, West Vancouver, B.C.

Dear Sir:—I have your wire of the eleventh instant and in reply would say that particulars of how to obtain plans and specifications appear in three Vancouver daily papers under dates of March 12 and 1936.

I might add it is extremely unlikely that the municipality would consider a tender from any firm

other than those of Greater Vancouver, partly because of the difficulty of supervision and partly because it is stipulated in contracts of this nature that local labor, i.e., that from the municipality itself, be used whenever possible.—Yours truly,
C. M. C.

WILL DEMOLISH OLD FIRE HALL

Lands Committee to Recommend Razing Kingston Street Structure

Total demolition of the old Kingston Street firehall, gutted by fire early this week, will be recommended to the City Council by the city lands committee. Decision to take that course was reached at a lengthy meeting of the committee yesterday.

The committee is composed of Aldermen R. A. C. Dewar, chairman, and Aldermen Andrew McGavin and Archie Wilson.

The committee will also recommend the premises above the public market, formerly used by the Friendly Help Society, be made available to the Department of Education for the organization and operation of an occupational school for unemployed youths. The committee will suggest the city furnish heat and light for the rooms.

The council will be notified that vacant lots on Cormorant Street near Blanshard Street are available for the use of the May 24 committee as a location for a street carnival and that neither the fire chief nor the chief of police have any objection to the use of the land for that purpose. It will be up to the celebration committee, however, to determine what, if not the residents and organizations in that locality are willing to have the carnival equipment there.

Several other matters, including development projects, were discussed by the committee.

WILL PURCHASE SILICIOUS ORE

Consolidated Company Agree to Request of Minister of Mines

Producers of silicious gold-bearing ore in British Columbia will be gratified to know that, at the request of Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines, the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada has agreed to purchase for smelting, another 6,000 tons, or a total of 18,000 tons a year of silicious ore.

The department has had under investigation the position of silicious ore shippers since the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company issued an order, late in 1935, that shipments from provincial mines would be cut down to a maximum of fifty tons a month each.

The company explained that this policy had been made necessary because it was receiving so large a quantity of this type of ore that a stock pile of $2,000 tons, besides a large tonnage of Rossmore ore, containing approximately $1,000,000 in gold, had accumulated, and could not be liquidated because of the limitations placed upon the capacity of their smelter to absorb silica.

The company has offered to lend engineers to mines wishing to build concentrators to help them design them, and to start up their operations. Several companies have taken advantage of this offer, and have secured for a few hundred dollars what otherwise would have cost them several thousand for expert service. The company also offered to the Mines Department to turn over its concentrator in Trail to any group of mines that could pool enough ore to run it.

URGENT SCHEME OF FIRST AID

Co-operation of Auto Club Sought For Stations on Island Highway

A proposed scheme by the Victoria branch of the Red Cross Society and the St. John Ambulance Association to establish first aid stations along the Island Highway, as outlined in a letter requesting the co-operation of the club, was received with considerable interest by directors of the Victoria Automobile Club yesterday.

Information concerning such a scheme being operated by the Ontario Motor League was turned over to the two organizations.

Owing to the press of private business, H. E. Post, recently-elected director of the Victoria Automobile Club and chairman of the safety committee, resigned from both offices.

Regrets over his resignation were expressed by the directors. A successor will be named at a later date.

A request from the Alberta Motor Association, that they be allowed to extend their operations into the southeastern section of the province, until such a time as the formation of a British Columbia Automobile Association is completed, received the approval of the club.

The question of city parking conditions was again brought up and president C. H. French, A. D. King and T. J. Goodlake, secretary, were instructed to interview Mayor Leeming on the matter on his return to the city.

Six new members were enlisted into the membership roll during the month of March, the meeting was informed, bringing the total enrollment to 500.

W. T. Straith, chairman of the legislative committee, at a meeting of the directors of the Victoria Automobile Club held yesterday afternoon, reported the committee had studied Bill 46, of the amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act, which was passed at the recently-finished session of the British Columbia government, and had found nothing in it to call for representation as affecting the interests of private vehicle owners.

V.A.C. Will Stage Dance Next Month

First social event of the newly-organized Victoria Athletic Club will be staged on Friday, May 8, in the form of a dance at the Foresters' Hall, Commercial Street. Dancing will be from 9 to 1 o'clock, with Reg. Wood's orchestra providing the music.

The social committee of the V.A.C., under the chairmanship of Bill Cameron, is arranging a number of novelty events for the affair, including a spotlight dance for a suitable prize.

Tickets will be printed immediately and will be obtainable from any of the members of the new club.

Toronto Leafs and Detroit Will Battle For Stanley Cup

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

WITH THE DOMINOES ready to travel east in quest of their second straight Canadian basketball championship, Victoria fans are greatly interested in the personnel of the clubs the locals may be called on to meet. The Raymond Union Jacks, Alberta champions, and the first obstacle in the path of the Dominos, have practically the same club as last year. Their definite line-up is not available, but, according to reports, the club from the sugar beet country is no stronger than when it invaded Victoria three years ago.

It returned victors over Raymond the Dominos will oppose the Winnipeg Toller in the western final. The Toller has several of last year's players who performed at the Willows in addition to Curt Deneau, Bud Marquardt and Joe Perlich, three United States boys imported to the Manitoba capital to play football for Winnipeg, who won the Canadian championship. In the final for the Manitoba championship these three played major roles in the victory of the Toller. Other members of the team are Dods, Hampton, Neal, Woolley and Stimm.

In eastern Canada the favored team to win the championship is the Windsor Fords. This club includes a large number of players who appeared in Victoria with Windsor-Walkerville Alumni and Assumption College in the two Canadian finals. Their line-up follows: Allison, Stewart, Goldman, Kantala, Wiseman, E. Dawson, Merrett, Altholson, N. Dawson and Grey. This team is coached by Gordie Fuller, who visited Victoria three years ago as leader of the Windsor-Walkerville outfit.

You'd cover a lot of athletic territory before meeting anyone more personable or likeable than Johnny Reimer, American football star who captained the Stanford rugger on their recent tour of British Columbia. He was forced out of the game here and one in Vancouver when a healing collar bone, broken some months ago, gave way in a practice on the mainland.

His arm strapped to his side, he followed the match with local reporters, telling them the names of Stanford men in future plays. Well-spoken, courteous and willing to answer any questions, he provided some delights on rugby in his university as well as details on the American game.

According to Johnny, about thirty-five men turn out for rugby at Stanford, making the number of eligible performers comparatively scarce. Most of the boys on the team which played here were beginners, having started their play at the university this year.

As a star in both games in California, he prefers American football to rugby, although he cheerfully admits players take harder bumps in the former. In former years the number of injuries has been far more numerous among the American footballers than in the rugby ranks at Stanford, making allowances for percentages. This year there has been as high, or perhaps higher average in the ranks of the English code players, he reported.

Reimer brought out another point definitely in favor of substitution in the English game. He was remarking on some of the individual plays tried unsuccessfully by members of the local backfield. A bystander suggested the repetition of the same unsuccessful plays by the same players was possibly caused by a slight swelling in the heads of the performers who did not appreciate their limitations.

"That's one of the beauties of substitution in the American game," Reimer remarked. "When a player prejudices the chances of his team through a swollen head, the coach yanks him out of the game and he cools his heels on the bench until he gets over the fault."

He somewhat deflated the general impression of the dyed-in-the-wool English rugby players who scoff at substitution on the grounds a player should be able to last a full game without relief. He was asked if he and the other American rugby players found it hard to go a whole game. "Not in English rugby," Reimer replied. "In that game you don't take

Brilliant Goal By Thoms Whips N.Y. Americans

Young-Centre Nets Deciding Counter in Smashing 3 to 1 Victory

FIRST GAME OF FINAL SUNDAY

Toronto, April 3.—Toronto's persistent Maple Leafs, almost washed up a week ago, crashed into the Stanley Cup finals for the third time today because youthful Bill Thoms knew opportunity when it placed a game-winning puck on his stick.

The marveled marvel of mid-ice caught Red Dutton's embattled New York Americans in the only moment they nodded during a world championship semi-final battle here yesterday evening and stickhanded the puck past Roy Worters for the deciding goal of a game Leafs won 3 to 1. Glorious in defeat, Dutton's "keep punching" boys, the first Americans team to make the playoffs since 1928 and the first ever to enter the semi-finals, earned a spot in hockey history as one of the gamest, hardest-fighting teams of them all.

MEET DETROIT

Toronto's win sent them into the world series with Detroit Red Wings. They play the first two games of the three-of-five series at Detroit Sunday and Tuesday. It will be their third crack at the cup. They won it in 1934 from New York Rangers in three straight and lost the same way to Montreal Maroons last season. It was either team's game up to the time Thoms scored. Leafs had a wide margin of the play but they fought under the ever-present threat of a sudden American attack that might have broken the 1 to 1 tie in the New Yorkers' favor and given them the game.

The twenty-four-year-old center's goal, loosening thunderous acclaim from the 13,218 spectators, provided Toronto with an opportunity for cautious, close-checker hockey in the remaining seven minutes of the final period.

When the New Yorkers went down five abreast in an effort to force scrambles that might have given them the tieing counter, they handed Frank Clancy the goal that clinched the game for Toronto.

Thoms's goal provided the only real thrill of a game that lacked the dramatic moments playoffs usually provide. It was fast and fairly open hockey for the first twenty minutes. After that the checking was too close to permit brilliance.

Little Roy Worters' failure to clear Bob Davidson's shot gave Leafs the break for their first goal in the fourteenth minute of the opening session but the goalie was on his knees when it happened and it was a hard shot to handle. The puck slipped over to Harry Jackson who flung it into the clear net.

STEWART TIES SCORE

Fifty-nine seconds later old Nels Stewart finished clip play with Joe Jerva and Harry Oliver by scoring the only goal of the night that was shot from more than a few feet out. He drove the puck from the right wing and beat George Hainsworth cleanly.

Almost thirteen minutes of the final period had been played when Buzz Boll broke away from attacking Americans and passed to Thoms at the American blue line for the winning goal. The Leaf centre coasted in around Jerva, faked Worters out of position and slipped the puck into the net for what Worters later called the nicest goal scored on him this season.

Clancy, Boll and Thoms broke away from the Americans for the final counter and had no one to stop them. Worters came out in an attempt to smother Thoms and the Leaf centre passed the puck behind his back to Clancy, who had an open net.

Only four penalties were called and none of them had any effect on the outcome. Red Horner took two in the second period and Charlie Conacher and Jeff Kalbfleisch were given minors in the first.

The contest broke up with the (Turn to Page 14, Col. 6)

DETROIT CLUB HOT FAVORITE

Baseball Experts Unanimous in Picking Tigers to Win American League

New York, April 3.—As compensation for two years of neglect, baseball experts participating in the Associated Press tenth annual pennant poll have given Detroit Tigers an overwhelming vote of confidence for 1936.

Final results in the American League poll, announced today, showed the Tigers so far in front of the field that there was no contest in the balloting, whatever may happen on the playing field. Mickey Cochrane's crew was the first-place selection of sixty-nine of the ninety-seven sports editors and baseball writers who cast ballots. Twenty others rated the Tigers no better than second and the remaining eight picked them for the third slot.

There was scattering first-place support for Tom Yawkey's expensive Boston Red Sox, the New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians, who led the poll a year ago, but the final tally left these clubs ranked in that order behind the world champions.

DENBIGH WINS SCHOOL TITLE

Take Boxing Honors at Cranleigh House School Annual Show

Winning the school boxing championship and the Genge Cup, P. Denbigh repeated his success of last year as a junior at the annual competitions held in the gym of Cranleigh House School on Wednesday.

Denbigh was given a stiff fight by S. Cotton, and only won by a close margin of points. In spite of the fact that, as C. V. Milton, the headmaster pointed out, most of the young fighters this year were novices, they showed remarkable skill and speed. Evidence of the careful training given by G. Kinch, their instructor. The large audience was delighted with the whole show. N. Forster and B. Jennings in the other senior event both showed promise.

The Bruce Cup for juniors was won by W. Crowther, who was hard pressed by M. Jennings, while G. Jennings and J. Clay in this division boxed well.

F. Cotton fought pluckily, but was outpointed by J. Carr, who took the Tyler Cup for midgets, and I. Foster and J. McLaughlin, two beginners, gave an interesting exhibition.

GYM WORK

Both the senior and the junior gym squads delighted the gathering with their cleverly executed stunts. M. Jennings of the juniors, and P. Denbigh, a senior, were the winners of this event.

Some smart tableaux wound up the programme.

J. Neary judged all events, and Mrs. L. A. Genge, presented the cups to the winners.

A successful evening was brought to a close by refreshments, which were served in the school by Mrs. Milton and Miss Molly Milton.

Oliver Goldsmith's novel, "The Vicar of Wakefield," is considered a classic in its field. Upon it, his comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer," and his poem, "The Deserted Village," the writer's fame solidly rests. Goldsmith's "Natural History" was a very unscientific work undertaken without research on his part, and consisting of rewritten parts of other similar works. Goldsmith in his "Natural History" showed an amazing disregard for accuracy and in it averaged more than one revolution a year. Colombia, which controlled Panama, put down one after another of the rebellions after Panama first declared herself independent until from 1898 to 1903 there was almost continual revolution in one part or another of Panama. In the year following that, Panama overthrew Colombian control, and the United States hastily recognized her independence—a fact which probably guaranteed Panama's freedom. Tomorrow: Iron highways.

Sonny Buxton In Knockout Victory

Victoria Heavyweight Puts Away Elgin Taylor in Minute and Fifty-four Seconds at Vancouver; Albie Davies in Draw; Wallace Whips Jackson

Vancouver, April 3.—Gordon Wallace, lanky Canadian welterweight champion, Vancouver, today was a step closer to a Chicago match with Barney Ross, world welterweight king, after handing out a lacing to young Peter Jackson, colored Los Angeles boxer, to take a unanimous decision.

Wallace weighed 146 and Jackson 138½. With the exception of the second round of the battle yesterday evening when Wallace was knocked to the canvas for a count of seven by Jackson's lightning right, the Vancouver-battler was never in trouble.

Sonny Buxton, Victoria heavyweight, ended the semi-final event in quick order with a knockout over Elgin Taylor, Tacoma negro, in one minute and fifty-four seconds. Buxton came out of his corner, tied Taylor on the ropes and let go with a terrific right that dropped the negro on his head for the count of eight, one minute after the start of the bout. Taylor rose, only to be nailed by Buxton's smashing right to the chest which sank him for the count.

WALLACE DOWN The spectators drew their breaths sharply in the second round as Wallace took Jackson's right to the face and went down. They saw his and their hopes go glimmering, but Wallace, shaking off the effects of that stunning blow, bounded to his feet at the count of seven and carried the fight to the negro the rest of the way.

He slugged home left hooks and battered the visitor around the head, ducking inside nearly every time the big negro let go with his right.

STRELICH TO MAKE RETURN

Will Meet Chief Thunderbird in Wrestling Bout Tomorrow Evening

Clever exponents of wrestling, Mike Strellich, Yugoslavia, and Chief Thunderbird, Sannich Indian, have been secured for the semi-wind-up tilt on the weekly mat card at the Tillamook gym tomorrow night.

These two matmen battled to a one-fall draw some weeks ago, and local fans have been asking for a return bout. They lack nothing in the art of wrestling, and should give the spectators many thrills during their scheduled five eight-minute round bout.

Rated as the mat game's most efficient "drop kick" artist, Paul "Bombshell" Bosch, former lifeguard, is billed to exchange grips with Tiger Daula, giant East Indian grappler from Bombay, India, in the eight ten-minute round main event.

Two local grapplers will appear in the four five-minute round preliminary match, which will open the show at 8:45 o'clock.

GREAT CREWS ARE ALL SET

Annual Cambridge-Oxford Boat Race Tomorrow on Historic Thames

Putney-on-Thames, England, April 3.—Although only one day remained before the inter-varsity boat race between Oxford and Cambridge, the eights of both universities continued workouts on the river yesterday.

Cambridge, winners of the event over the four-and-a-half-mile course on the Thames for the last twelve years, caused some surprise by rowing from Hammersmith Bridge to Putney Bridge on the ebb tide, after Wednesday's outing it was thought they would slacken off until the race itself tomorrow.

The Light Blues rowed the distance between the two bridges in 7:20. G. R. M. Laurie, stroke, rowed magnificently. He maintained a high rate throughout and got the maximum response from the crew. G. Kingsford, at No. 6, was one of the best of the men, and D. W. Burford, at No. 4, seemed thoroughly comfortable. These two switched positions this week. Laurie stroked thirty-nine to the minute at the start and never dropped below thirty-four. He finished just about forty.

OXFORD OUT

Oxford's eight took an outing in rough weather, apparently anticipating similar conditions for the race. Coach W. Rathbone intentionally sent his men through the roughest patches.

Oxford was away well in a two-minute row, with D. M. DeR. Winner stroking thirty-eight in the first minute and thirty-seven in the second.

In a second outing they practised a series of starts from the stake boats. The best start was one of nineteen-and-a-half strokes in a half-minute.

On the basis of performances during the training period, experts believed there was little to choose between the rivals. Cambridge rowed the full course of the actual race in 18:45 on March 26. The previous day, Oxford had rowed a course about 200 yards longer in 18:59.

The Dark Blues, however, set a new record on March 23 between Chiswick Steps and Hammersmith Bridge. They clipped off this distance in 3:42, three seconds faster than the old mark.

Fifth Brigade and Scottish Renew Old Rivalry in Battle For Cowichan Trophy at Macdonald Park; Kick-off at 3 o'Clock

Those perennial army game rivals, Fifth Brigade, and the Canadian Scottish, will trek onto Macdonald Park field to wind up Victoria's current rugby series tomorrow afternoon as they battle for possession of the Cowichan Trophy, island knockout championship emblem at present held by the Gunners.

The fixture is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock. With the two militia squads in the final, interest has been added to the engagement which will probably draw a respectable crowd to the enclosure.

The Scottish will use much the same team as that which upset the Bays-Wanderers in the surprising semi-final, while the Gunners will inject considerable intermediate talent into the battle.

For the Highlanders, Victoria's rep full back, blonde Ted Colgate, will be last line of defence. At the other end of the field, Roddy McInnes, whom Colgate replaced on the McKechnie Cup team, will see duty.

SCOTTISH LINE-UP

The Scottish threats will include "Bloke" Appleton and Featherston on the wings and Frank Speed and the veteran Bob Tye inside. "Blinky" Tisdall will stand-off half with Alex Anderson right behind the scrum. Campbell Forbes, Jack Banks and possibly Ian Adams—all top players, will form the backbone of the pack which will also include T. Fields, P. Carney, Morgan, Buckler and Rockingham. If Acland is unable to make the game John Forbes will take his place. Morgan and Buckler are a pair of intermediates.

Fred Smith and Jack Ferguson, stars of the Fifth Brigade's intermediates, will hold down wing berths for the Gunners with Ken Fleming and Paul Rowe inside. Bill Hallett will be five-eighths and George Langdon, another intermediate, scrum half. Forward to W. Cull and Mrs. J. Buller, Ed. deBlancque, Dan Downey, Harry Eastham, Bert Simpson, T. Miller, an intermediate, and Frank Johnson.

The Scottish have spent between three and four years trying to beat the Gunners in regular league play, and will be out to accomplish their objective tomorrow. The efforts should produce a keenly contested battle.

GOOD DOUBLES GAME FEATURE

T. W. Palmer and Mrs. Kirchin took yesterday evening's feature mixed doubles match in the carpet bowling tournament at the Foresters' Hall, defeating R. J. Wood and Miss Durant, Esquimalt, 21 to 19.

H. Reid and Davey beat Fletcher and Longley, 30 to 11. Mr. and Mrs. McMillan, 15 to 22. Mrs. J. McMillan, 15 to 22. Mrs. J. McMillan, 15 to 22.

Mrs. Edwards entered the women's doubles final by taking their match against Mrs. Ready and Mrs. Sheritt, 22 to 8.

Tonight's draw, with play starting at 8 o'clock, follows: Colvin and Jackson vs. Reid and Davey; F. Thackeray and Mrs. Reid vs. W. Cull and Mrs. J. McMillan; Taylor and Alexander vs. Wescott and Morrison; L. W. Cockerill vs. A. Longley.

Three Leaders In Daily Mail Golf

Branshot, Hampshire, April 3.—S. L. King, Nole Park, joined Percy Allie, Beaconsfield, and Jack Busson, of the British Ryder Cup team, in the lead in the £2,000 Daily Mail golf tournament at the end of the third round yesterday.

Scores were somewhat high, enabling King to catch up with the leaders with a 71, which added to a 72 Wednesday and a 71 for the first round, making a total of 215. Busson had a third round 72, Allie 74.

Behind the leaders came C. S. Denny, Thorpe Hall, with a 73 for a fifty-four-hole total of 216; Al Padgham with a 73 for a total of 216, and S. Fairweather of Malone with a 78 and a total also of 216.

Willie Lamb, Toronto, was in forty-eighth position at the end of the third round, shooting a 78 for a total of 230.

SOFTBALL PRACTICE

Weather permitting, Painter's Bruins softball team will hold its first workout of the season, Sunday morning at Memorial Park at 10 o'clock. All of last season's players and others interested are invited to attend.

SPLIT OVER INSURANCE
City Unable to Reach Accord on Policy Allotments

A wide split over the method of distributing fire insurance policies among local firms, as participants in a blanket coverage scheme for the city's holdings, was reported today by Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins, chairman of the special insurance committee, which met in the City Hall this morning.

The group, composed of Aldermen Hawkins, Alderman Walter Luney and Alderman J. D. Hunter, met with D. A. Macdonald, city controller-treasurer, for an hour and a half in the committee room today.

When the meeting broke up Alderman Hawkins stated: "We're split wider than ever now."

"Our hands were tied by the city's resolution calling for distribution among all recognized brokers here. I was assured by the chairman at the council meeting that our hands were not tied. But we could not give it to whom we liked. We are required to distribute it among all the brokers. There are sixty-six board companies, representing the higher rate, and fourteen non-board, representing the lower rate. The difference in tenders submitted amounted to $4,250 between the high and low bids."

The committee members would make verbal reports to the council at its Monday evening meeting, the alderman stated. He indicated no progress had been made at the session this morning.

VICTORIA BOY WINS ORATORY

Leslie D. Clarke Takes Junior Challenge Trophy For Eloquence

Use of shorter poems as test pieces in festival oration contests was urged this morning by Mrs. Jean Campbell, Winnipeg adjudicator, in commenting on competitions held at Metropolitan Institute in conjunction with the annual Musical Festival.

Mrs. Campbell criticized the general use of long poems in competitive work, stating shorter writings were really better tests for the competitors. As far as an adjudicator was concerned he was able to judge the reader after the first three or four stanzas.

Mrs. Campbell was pleased with the work in the section for boys and girls between twelve and seventeen years of age, which was won by Leslie D. Clarke of Victoria, with his presentation of E. Pauline Johnson's "As Red Men Die."

Competitors in the class were permitted to choose their own poems, a feature which the adjudicator praised since she felt it allowed room for individual expression.

In winning the competition Leslie Clarke was awarded the Canadian Daughters' League Challenge Cup, won last year by Barbara Kelly, of Vancouver. He received 89 points, being one point ahead of Miss Kelly and Joyce Hann who tied for second place with 88.

The former gave H. Drummond's famous French-Canadian poem "Little Bateau," and the latter Robert Service's "Young Fellow My Lad." Marygold Nash was next with 84.

In the senior section for girls between sixteen and nineteen years, Marygold Nash was first, followed by Joyce Hann and Cecily Gooy tied in second place with 84.

The test piece was an excerpt from Keats's "Endymion."

In a brief commentary Mrs. Campbell remarked on the intelligence of the class. She warned against readers giving the appearance of merely taking a casual interest in their poems. Recovery after a bad start was also an important factor, she said. She also said memory was a minor worry in elocution.

Nellie Redgrave, of Victoria, was the winner in the open class for ladies with 86. The test was "Christ in the Universe" by Alice Meynell, and Mrs. Campbell pointed out it was a difficult one because the characters could not be impersonated or dramatized.

Agnes L. Marquart and Rachel E. Large were tied in second place with 83 each and Dorothy Davies was next with 82.

RAPS BREEDING FOR EGGS ONLY
F. L. McNeill Says Chicken Mortality Due to Misconception of Genetics

Breeding for egg production exclusively was severely criticized by F. L. McNeill, poultry expert of Bucklefield's Limited, Vancouver, in a lecture to the Y.M.C.A. yesterday evening.

Mr. McNeill sought to prove the present high mortality in British Columbia poultry flocks, and its steady increase during the last ten years was due to an imperfect understanding of genetic principles in poultry breeding.

The 10-cent chick, in his opinion, contributed a great deal to the present death rate in the commercial poultry house. Due to this low price, breeders had been forced to neglect every factor save egg production.

He pointed out that individual high records were not necessarily transmitted to the offspring. The culled hen which had laid well in R.O.P. tests was not a representative of a family trait. Her sister was probably good for nothing but the axe. It was only the characteristics of a family which was carried on in breeding, not of the individual.

Factors such as hatchability, resistance to disease and vitality were in most cases completely neglected by breeders, Mr. McNeill said.

He illustrated his talk from a number of charts compiled from actual records of chickens at Guilford, Ottawa, Massachusetts, California, and the Sidney and Agassiz Experimental Farms.

It was announced at the meeting that Mr. McNeill would give another lecture in the near future on co-circulations and his control.

Foster Parents To Keep Girl

Mother Loses Legal Fight to Regain Custody of 13-year-old Daughter

Helene Elizabeth Jane Christian, thirteen, will continue to live with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jacques, and under the guardianship of her grandfather, William Christian, Mr. Justice Robertson of the Supreme Court rules in a judgment. Olive Ray, wife of Clifford Ray, formerly the wife of the late Harold Christian, with C. L. Harrison as her counsel, moved before the court to regain custody of her daughter, who by Mr. Christian's will had been left in charge of his father.

J. B. Clearhue, as counsel, fought any proposal to have Helen returned to her mother.

The judge pointed out that Mr. and Mrs. Jacques were giving Helen a good home and had with them an adopted daughter of fifteen who rooms with Helen.

The judge agreed with Mr. Clearhue that the guardianship of the grandfather should not be disturbed. "I saw the child in my private room," the judge said. "She appears to be healthy and comfortably dressed and a very intelligent child. She repeated she did not want to see her mother again or to go with her, or to have her come to see her. It must be borne in mind that the applicant left the child for a new husband. The child has been brought up by the Jacques since she was nine years of age, and knows very little of her mother. Then it is evident the wish of the father was that the applicant should have nothing to do with the child."

"Mr. Jacques is a marine engineer and is able and willing to pay for her maintenance and education. William Christian is a rancher and is able and willing to support her. She is his only grandchild."

The judge ordered that Mrs. Ray should not be entirely cut off from her daughter, but should be permitted to see her once a week for one hour and then in the presence of Mr. or Mrs. Jacques or Mr. Christian. The mother has to agree not to attempt to prejudice the child in any way against the Jacques or Mr. Christian.

"The court in this way will be able to decide what effect this access will have on the interest of the child," the judge continued. "If it is beneficial, or at any rate does no harm, it may very well be that an application may be made for further access, if it is not satisfactory, the right of access may be taken away."

FISHING LAW CHANGES MADE

Reduction in Non-resident Anglers License: Amend-For Island Spots

The reduction in license fees for non-resident anglers for sport fishing in British Columbia waters, as announced by A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries, won the approval of a number of organizations in the city and on the island, who have been endeavoring to have this change brought about for some time.

Vancouver, April 2 (Canadian Press)—Amendments to special British Columbia fishery regulations concerning both sport and commercial fishing throughout the province as announced here by A. Motherwell, follow:

In sport fishing the new regulations call for a license fee of $5 for the whole year for the non-resident angler or a fee of $1 per day. Formerly the license was $5 for the season or any portion of the season.

The Cowichan, Soanemo, Quamichan, Bear, Beaver and Measachie lakes, all in the Cowichan district, are declared open the year round for sport fishing, with no closed season. In the tributaries of the above-mentioned lakes, the closed season is now from July 1 to April 30, and in that portion of the Cowichan River between the Island Highway bridge at Duncan, the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway bridge at Cowichan Lake, the closed season will henceforth be from November 1 to March 31.

The following changes have been made in the regulations governing commercial fishing:

There will be no salmon purse seine permitted in Fisher Channel between Bluff Point and Sunny Island, but salmon purse seine will be permitted in Drayney Inlet.

The regulations prohibiting salmon purse seine in Quatsino Sound between August 25 of each year are rescinded, and herring fishing in Jap Inlet and Buleet Cove, in the Prince Rupert district, will only be permitted for bait or food purposes.

In Vuelcet Arm, in the Barclay Sound district, fishing for herring other than with purse seine nets, is now permitted for bait purposes only, except when the herring are spawning.

Date for the opening of blueback fishing has been changed from May 15 to June 1, and the weekly closed season for salmon purse seine and salmon gill-netting in the Alberni Canal district, east of Turn Island, will now be from Saturday at 8 a.m. to the following Monday at 8 a.m.

The Y.M.C.A. circus committee met yesterday evening with E. G. Rowbottom in the chair and set the dates of the annual event for Friday and Saturday of May 8 and 9.

Tentative plans for the circus were discussed with a view to making the affair even bigger than last year. The committee will meet again on Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A.

WATCH TRIAL SCHOOL PLAN

Extension of Mainland System Dependent on Experiment's Success

Any extension of the present trial system of larger administrative educational units in British Columbia would depend on the proved success of the experiment in the Sumas-Matsqui-Abbotsford area, Major H. B. King, author of the King Report, told members of the Real Estate Board of Victoria at its luncheon in Spencer's dining room today.

The costs of the new system, he said, would be considerably under the amount expended on education during its most expensive period.

"I think you agree education is one of the most important services of the government," Major King said. Education affected property values to a large extent, he added, saying the presence of schools in a community had a definite bearing on its property values.

Major King did not see how his hearers could disagree with the financial reorganization of education suggested in his report. He spoke of reorganization in administration and curricula, general throughout the world.

He referred to the enlargement of the British administrative units in education in 1907. Those units covered large territory with the co-operation from local authorities, he said.

He referred to the enlargement of the British administrative units in education in 1907. Those units covered large territory with the co-operation from local authorities, he said.

Over each British Isles unit was a professional director, who was given a free hand in administration. Similar systems were in vogue in New Zealand and Australia, he added.

The speaker dealt with the method of selecting teachers by systems which over-rode favoritism and observed merit.

Major King commended U.S. and British Columbia possibilities through adoption of the system in the British Isles.

He pointed to benefits from larger regional units in this province, noting inspectors might be given greater powers in place of their advisory capacities. It would give a better administrative system and better professional direction to provincial education, he claimed.

The speaker referred to the experiment in Abbotsford-Sumas-Matsqui (Abbotsford area) which had been made into a large administrative region. Results, so far incomplete, were promising, he said.

Later, Major King stated, the experiment in that area would reveal whether or not it was a beneficial move. If it were decided the experiment was a success and the system adopted throughout the province, selected men would serve under the director in the trial area and would later be sent out to other regions with some measure of experience.

The residents of the Sumas-Matsqui-Abbotsford area appeared satisfied with the experiment. Any extension of the method in that region, he said, before adding similar systems might be applied to spheres outside the field of education.

Turning to the curricular amendment, Major King spoke of the conservative aspect of education and the difficulties experienced in making changes. At present, curricular changes were aimed at vitalizing the studies.

He was interested particularly in those subjects which would prove of particular value for use by students outside the comparatively narrow academic field.

The speaker was introduced by T. J. Goodlake, president of the board, and thanked for his address by J. W. Jones.

Fruit Tastes Like Sundae

Cherry Moys Has Appearance of Apple, Core of Orange, Seeds of Persimmon and Taste of Banana and Pineapple

A queer fruit that looks like an apple, has the pithy core of an orange and the seeds of a persimmon, but tastes like a pineapple and banana sundae is on sale today at a Victoria store.

The name of the fruit is custard apple or cherry moys. It comes from California. It is not a cross but a native of the tropics where it is said to be quite common.

The enterprising grocer who introduced this new fruit is having difficulty selling it because its appearance is rather against it. The cherry moys looks rather like a green, shrivelled

How to Deal With Sirens

Says Most Men Marry for Good Home

NOT LONG AGO I made the assertion in this column that the sirens who break up so many homes possessed no knowledge of how to charm men that every woman does not know. Furthermore, I opined that if wives would only take the trouble to practice the arts and allurements upon their husbands after marriage that they did before marriage they would not be confronted so often with the problem of the Other Woman, nor called upon to shed so many tears.

Commenting upon this statement a correspondent says: "What you say about holding a husband is quite true. There isn't a woman in the world so dull that she doesn't know the come-on in the love game and how to please a man. Especially does every wife know how to work her husband. She knows his every foible and weakness, and can play upon them as upon a harp with a thousand strings. She knows that in order to keep her husband eating out of her hand she must have angel's food in it. She knows that she must be easy on the eyes; that she must be a gay and amusing companion; that she must be an expert incense burner."

"It isn't that we wives don't know how to please our husbands. It is just that we get tired. We get worn out. We can't keep it up."

Of course, you can't keep it up. Nor did I intend to suggest that you should. No woman can be perpetually fascinating, nor could any husband stand one who was always coquetting with him. She would get on his nerves, and he would wish she would stay put and take marriage as it is instead of play-acting about it. Nor would any man in his senses expect his wife to look as if she had just walked out of a beauty shop when she had been up all night with a sick baby and was cooking breakfast. Neither are many men so abnormally vain that they would like their wives to work like coal-heavers feeding them on flattery.

Marriage is marriage. It isn't courtship. It isn't putting on a show. It isn't a girl with perfume behind her ears and a fresh wave in her hair. It isn't a man bringing his sweetie a beribboned box of candy. It is a couple settling down to the real business of life, and knowing each other well enough and trusting each other well enough to take love for granted. It is a woman who smells of the kitchen and a man bringing home the bacon.

Just because most husbands and wives spend their evenings discussing baby formulas and the price of groceries and how to meet a note in the bank is no sign that they are any less alluring to each other or that their conversation is less interesting than it was when they put in the time probing into the state of their hearts.

But if there are allurements, such as wearing pink silk and lace negligees when she has to do her own cooking, that a wife cannot keep on practicing after marriage, there are plenty of other bits of magic that she can work that are just as potent in driving rivals away.

She can be, for instance, the gentle of the hearthstone. Most men, marry for a home. They want some place to which they can come, secure of peace and rest, and a good dinner that they have not had to order themselves. They want loving hands to draw them across the threshold and a woman to fuss over them and baby them and make them comfortable, and as long as a woman does this she has a spell to conjure with.

Another thing that a wife can keep up is being pleasant to live with. No use in saying that husbands are unreasonable and grouchy and cranky and that no woman can put up with them and wear the smile that won't come off, nor stand their back talk without giving them a piece of her mind. Husbands are not a bit harder to get along with than bosses, and they can be handled by practicing precisely the same technique that a girl uses when she has a good situation she doesn't want to lose. And, believe me, the wife job is just as worth keeping as a secretarial position or one behind a counter.

Nothing would do more to make husbands vamp-proof than for every bride to take a solemn oath on her wedding day, and stick to it, to let other people tell her husband of his faults and criticize his bridge, his table manners and his grammar. Fault-finding has lost more wives their husbands than any other one thing, for a man just naturally beats it from the woman who gives him an inferiority complex to the one who tells him how great and wonderful he is.

And wives might keep up the habit of treating their husbands with politeness and consideration, of consulting their tastes and pleasures and, above all, of showing them appreciation and gratitude. This may be burdensome at the time, but it saves a lot of grief in the end, and it certainly does freeze the Other Woman out.

Uncle Wiggly's Auto Horn

By HOWARD E. GARIS

Though Uncle Wiggly had an automobile with big, fat bologna sausage tires, his horn was just like the one on your daddy's car. And if your daddy doesn't care to be bothered with a car (for they are a great trouble when they are not), you might say Uncle Wiggly's auto horn was like the one on the laundryman's car or the baker's.

But however that is, the old rabbit gentleman, now that spring has come, often would go out for a ride in his car, and of course he would blow his horn whenever he saw any of the animal folk in the way where he might bump into them. Of course he would then be onto them on purpose. Everyone, whether a rabbit gentleman or not, should be very careful driving a car, so as not to hurt anyone. But often those in cars and those out of cars get careless and look around before they go ahead. So this makes accidents.

ALSO HONK HONK
Uncle Wiggly's auto horn went like this: "Toot, toot!" Sometimes it sounded like this: "Honk! Honk!" That was when he had Grandfather Goosey Gander ride with him and the old gentleman goose would say: "Uncle Wiggly, I'll be your auto horn for a while. Then Grandpa Goosey would open his beak and cry "Honk! Honk!" and Uncle Wiggly wouldn't bump into any of his friends.

Sometimes the old rabbit gentleman would take his car out in the rain and the rain would freeze inside the horn and it wouldn't blow. Uncle Wiggly would say when his auto horn wouldn't blow, "What shall I do?" Then Jimmy Whistlebottle, the duck boy, would call out: "I'll be your auto horn, Uncle Wiggly. I'll ride on the seat with you and make a noise so everybody will get out of the way."

(catch cold. I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's rubbers.)

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

SATURDAY, APRIL 4, 1936

Adverse planetary aspects are strong today, according to astrologers. Risk of serious, especially those affecting financial affairs, should be avoided. Mental confusion and unrest may be widespread under this day, which serves to underline conditions in one's life as well as in other persons. Thoughts that are destructive should be stubbornly combated.

Good news in one's life may be expected. Trade agreements and commercial contracts will encourage business, but the stock market will be subject to sudden fluctuations.

Employment problems will continue to disturb the nation, for Saturn frowns upon those who are idle. Unemployment inventories will affect the labor demand. Many quarrels in all varieties of human relations may be expected. In families irritability and sensitiveness due to long economic strain will be apparent. Business and political associates will become enemies.

Girls may discover that the evening is disappointing from the viewpoint of romance. Dances and other social affairs may be dull under this day.

The year is to bring about amazing events, but old leaders probably will not be vanquished. Crime as a national disease now will be studied, for this country is to sustain severe losses through organized graft and underworld machinations not hitherto recognized.

Persons whose birthdate is 11 have the augury of a year of serious procedure in which personal and other social affairs will be exceedingly intelligent and energetic. Subjects of this sign usually attain success by a combination of hard work and average talent.

Thaddeus Stevens, statesman, was born on this day, 1792. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Lawrence Barrett, actor, 1838; Orville Gibson, wood carver, 1848; and Jean Francois Delavigne, dramatist, 1791.

Two to Contest Aldermanic Seat

Vancouver, April 3.—T. H. Kirk, former member of the B.C. Legislature, and J. H. Shinnick will contest the aldermanic by-election in ward one to fill the unexpired term of the late Ald. C. E. Tisdale. Both are former representatives of the ward. The by-election will take place April 9.

How HE LAUGHED
My! You should have seen everybody jump out of the way, for they thought it was a police dog, patrol of an ambulance or a fire engine. But it was only Uncle Wiggly, and my horn he laughed!

One day the Bob Cat, who had been watching Uncle Wiggly take spins rides in the auto, said to the fox and the Wolf: "I think if we hide in the bushes along the road where Uncle Wiggly rides in his auto we'll easily catch him."

"Let's do it!" said the Fox. So they did. But that day Uncle Wiggly's auto horn broke when he was in front of a fish store. Not daring to go on without a horn that wouldn't blow, the rabbit gentleman asked the fish peddler what to do.

"I'll let you take my fish horn," said the peddler. "Now that for your auto horn. So Uncle Wiggly drove his car down the road, blowing the fish horn. "Toot, toot!" Without knowing it, he drove toward where the Bad Chaps were hiding in the bushes. The Fox said: "Here he comes!"

"Oh, no!" mewed the Bob Cat. "That only the fish horn. Don't bother with that. So, tooting the fish horn, Uncle Wiggly rode past the hidden Bad Chaps before they could jump out and catch him. Ha! Ha!

And if the winner shouldn't wrap itself up in a potato-parade so it won't
